Here's 2 Draftees Who Hope That History Repeats

CHICAGO, March 18 (AP)—Michael J. O'Connor, 44, remarked "the war is just about won," when he learned he was the leadoff man in his draft board. "Right after I was called in the last war the Germans gave up," he said.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 18 (AP)—Dewey P. Saucier, 42, whose serial number in last night's drawing was first for local board No. 3, said "it happened before, I hope it happens again."

Drafted in 1918, he was ordered to report for duty on Nov. 11—Armistice Day.

Massachusetts fathers and sons alike today studied their spot in the newest draft lottery and proudly promised "We're Ready to Go."

Ear-marked for a crack at the Axis were youngsters of 20 and fathers in their 40's—most of whom will get their chance either in the front line of combat or on the home front of defense and production.

The order in which their chance will come was finally decided long after dawn today when the last green capsule tumbled from the big bowl of destiny at our nation's Capitol.

This newest draft, first since Pearl Harbor and the third since America found she must get "tough," brought to almost 30,000,000 the number of Americans who have been numbered in Selective Service.

As in the previous drafts, the national drawing was the one big topic of conversation today in homes, offices and at local draft boards. The latter were jammed by hundreds, eager to learn where chance had dropped them and grimly ready for whatever may come.

ACCEPT EAGERLY

The young fellows whose numbers turned up early accepted things philosophically. Their attitude seemed to be:

"We're due for the Army, so the quicker the better."

But many who drew the first Bay State number—441—were fathers of near-grown families. Many were graying veterans of the last World War. Some had sons in the very same drawing.

Yet the answer was pretty much the same. Veterans declared that if the U. S. needs them again they are ready. Just like the song, they "can do it again."

No. 441, the first to affect New England, was the fourth number drawn. The second number for men of this area was 1817, the 19th to come from the goldfish bowl.

Those who held No. 441 in Greater Boston came from every walk of life.

One of them, John F. Rand of Melrose, didn't have much interest in the matter. He couldn't wait so he jumped the gun by 24 hours with

LITTLE LOTTERY HELD TO CORRECT LISTINGS

WASHINGTON, March 18 (INS)—One number was drawn twice and two other numbers were missing today when the national draft lottery ended, so a second "little lottery" was held.

At the end of the big drawing it was found that only 6998 numbers instead of a planned 7000 had been drawn. However, one number, 2885, was drawn twice and two other numbers, 2069 and 6342, were missing.

Brig.-Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national draft director, after a check-up, announced that one of the two 2885's should have been 2385. As a result, it was then decided to draw the numbers 2885, 2069 and 6342.

So the numbers were inserted in capsules and dropped into the gold fishbowl. They were drawn in the following order: 6342, 2069 and 2385. Those holding the three got a break, since their numbers were at the bottom of the list.

The number 2885 was drawn both as the 742nd and 1638th numbers. Gen. Hershey ruled the order number for those holding 2885 would be the larger number, or 1638, placing them some 900 numbers further down on the list.

The draft lottery ended after a 13-hour, all-night Marathon during which the 7000 order numbers for 9,000,000 men were drawn.

The lottery—third since the national defense program began in 1940, but the first war time event of its kind since 1918—started at 6 o'clock last night. The last number was drawn at 7:04 this morning.

It raised the pool of manpower for the armed forces and, if necessary, for conscription for war jobs in industry to 25,000,000 men. It also marked another step forward in the United States' mobilization of all of its men liable to military service.

Secretary of War Stimson drew the first number from the goldfish bowl that has been used for every draft. It was 3185.

2 U. S. Ships Torpedoed

WASHINGTON, March 18 (INS)—The Navy disclosed that two U. S. merchant vessels have been torpedoed off the Atlantic coast.

It was presumed that both ships were victims of Nazi submarine raiders.

The Navy did not state whether the vessels were sunk.

GENERAL ELECTRIC EMPLOYEES DONATE BLOOD
Three of the Forty Workers Who Gave a Pint Each
Boston Evening American Photo

40 G. E. Workers Each Donate Pint of Blood

By ALICE BISSELL,
Boston Evening American Staff Reporter

It was a 12-hour day today for 40 defense workers from the Lynn General Electric Co., but the overtime compensation was tiny sandwiches, pleasant banter with pretty nurses, and a feeling in the workers' hearts they had done a little bit more for Uncle Sam.

The husky workers from the Lynn plant quit work at 7 this morning after the night shift, piled into buses and went to the Red Cross blood bank on Boylston st. Back Bay, gave a pint of blood each.

The local, No. 201 of the Electrical and Radio Workers, CIO, has set its quota of donors at 1000, with the motto that of the Red Cross Blood Donor Service . . . "What you won't miss, they die without."

These men, who work seven nights a week, with only an 18-minute lunch hour at 3 a. m., were in fine physical condition.

Their spirits were fine, too. In fact, some of the fair sex, and prospective donors, paled a little when Robert "Tiny" Farland, 26, of Dolphin ave., Revere, mused on the new experience of giving blood.

An assembler at the plant, Tiny is six feet six, weighs 250. Relaxing on one of the Red Cross divans, he observed:

"Home was never like this. I'll come soon again. The only complaint I have against the Red Cross is that they won't let you give 10 pints of blood at a time. I think that should be a new rule."

When a lady in gray served him dainty sandwiches and tea, Tiny rejoiced over their tastiness compared to the "fodder," he brings to work in his lunch pail.

The boys all agreed it was a pretty soft way to end the day, and set about making plans for a dance next Saturday night at Union hall, Lynn, to raise funds for transportation from the plant to the blood donor center.

Red Cross officials said they had more help from such groups than any others.

"The G. E. workers went through the procedure in half the time most people take, and with more laughs than we've had since the center opened. Since they are an example of our American boys, we'll be sure to win this war."

Knox Inspects Normandie

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Knox, making an unheralded visit, today inspected naval installations in New York harbor and the burned out liner Normandie.

After inspecting the $60,000,000 liner, Knox boarded a fast coast guard cutter and inspected installations at Bayonne, N. J., and other harbor points.

Reports that Secretary of War Stimson also was in the city could not be confirmed.

BUY BONDS FOR BOMBERS

BOND-BOMBER DRIVE AIDS W'ARTHUR

BUY BONDS FOR MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS! Give that dauntless military genius, General Douglas MacArthur, the tools to work with in Australia. Behind his leadership, our fighting forces will carry the fight to the land of the Rising Sun . . . with BOMBERS, ships, guns and tanks.

Those BOMBERS, ships, guns and tanks can be bought with the money you LOAN the government every time you BUY BONDS.

Gen. MacArthur and his men are READY. Will you, Mr. and Mrs. America, do YOUR part?

BUY BONDS AND STAMPS TODAY.

Today the BUY A MASSACHUSETTS BOMBER fund stands at $24,724.011.

PLEDGE $50,000

A promise to buy $50,000 in BONDS was received from two groups of union workers representing more than 500 men and women anxious to assure their brothers, sons, relatives and friends of the necessary weapons of war.

Cleaners and Dyers, Local 183, of the Holland Cleansing Co., and workers of the College Clothing Co. and the Goodman Clothing Co., all of Boston, are "pitching in" a $100 BOND each during 1942 to carry out their pledge.

Joseph Fiascone, Local 183 business agent, and Miss Alma LaRiviere and Toney Fey, representing the clothing company workers, issued a joint statement to the BUY A MASSACHUSETTS BOMBER editor, in which they said:

"Every employee and union member will take part in this drive. Reserve funds of the union locals will be, in part, converted into BONDS to aid in the campaign.

ALL GROUPS BUY

"We want to extend our heartiest congratulations and endorsement to the Boston Daily Record-Evening American and Sunday Advertiser campaign to BUY BONDS FOR MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS."

From big and little groups . . . business, fraternal, religious and labor . . . come the pledges of serious-minded Americans who know their future depends on the outcome of this present battle against aggression.

All are unstinting in their efforts to assure the success of America's great effort. THEY know BOMBERS mean VICTORY and BUYING BONDS means BOMBERS.

Now, even more than before, we should feel it our sacred DUTY to BUY BONDS. Our gallant fighting men are poised on the farflung frontiers waiting only for the call to action in defense of our liberties . . . and LIVES.

The very least we at home can do is provide them with the weapons of war. We can't all be in the Army, Navy, Marines or Air Force . . . we can't all do the important work in producing war materials, but there's one thing EVERYONE of us can do:

BONDS SAVE LIVES

BUY BONDS AND STAMPS. Keep buying them. A BOND purchased TODAY may mean a life saved tomorrow.

Lay a little aside each week to buy BONDS. When you get together the $18.75 hurry to the nearest bank or postoffice and just say: "I WANT A BOND."

And tell the clerk you want the BOND credited to the BOMBS FOR MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS.

"VICTORY" FOR BOMBER DRIVE—In favor of "all-out" support for the BUY BONDS FOR BOMBERS drive are these patriotic Americans, representatives of Cleaners and Dyers Local 183 of the Holland Cleansing Co., the College Clothing Co. and the Goodman Clothing Co. They are (seated, l. to r.) Harriet Clark, Joseph Fiascone and Stella Oslizla. Standing are Della Ahern, Toney Fey, William Bissonet and Alma La Riviere.

Handful of Inferior Planes Doomed Java

A story behind the story of the fall of Java is told for the first time in the following dramatic dispatch just received from Merrill Mueller, International News Service war correspondent, who was aboard the last ship to sail through the Sunda Strait, between Java and Sumatra, into the Indian ocean to Australia.

By MERRILL MUELLER

(Copyright, 1942, by International News Service)

WITH THE UNITED NATIONS FORCES IN AUSTRALIA.
March 18—Now it can be told—the real story of the fall of the Java bastion.

I was on that island during its last days under the flag of the Netherlands, just before the Japanese steamroller overwhelmed it in a week of swift battle.

When I was ordered to prepare to evacuate Java, along with part of the Australian forces that had been sent to help defend the island, I was en route east to the Bali front in the hope of seeing American forces in action in the East Indies.

But my errand proved to have been based on misinformation regarding the forces and material available for the defense of Java. My brief trip on the island, which included visits to naval ports, soon told me how weak and untenable was Java's position.

ON LAST SHIP

Shortly, I found myself with a United Nations headquarters ship aboard an armed merchant ship which the Japanese erroneously reported they had sunk. It was the last vessel to pass safely through the narrow Sunda Strait. A United Nations destroyer and a freighter were torpedoed in those waters that night.

The complete domination exercised by the Japanese with their remarkable air force over every war theater on land, at sea and in the air thus far is the sole explanation of the rapidity with which they registered their successes from Singapore through the East Indies.

FLY OLD PLANES

The Royal Air Force never had more than 100 fighters in the Malayan and Singapore campaigns. These were mostly obsolescent Brewster-Buffaloes and a few Hurricanes. About a dozen of the latter were flown from Singapore to Palembang as United Nations air reinforcements for Sumatra.

When the full Japanese attack struck Java, the air defense line-up consisted of about 100 Dutch-flown American-made Brewster-Buffalo fighters, giving the Jap fighters an edge of 60 miles an hour in speed, 15,000 feet in altitude, RAF hurricanes and other United Nations fighters based on Java were very few.

The Dutch in Java possessed about 50 bombers, including American-built Martin bombers supported by a few other United Nations bombing planes, together with a number of naval seaplanes. The number of land-based heavy anti-aircraft guns throughout Java could be counted on the fingers of two hands. There were less than 50 medium-calibered anti-aircraft cannon, but a large number of heavy and light anti-aircraft machine guns.

The weight of their individual bombs and the total weight of their bomb loads in given operations are far lighter than those of the German air force. This should be an important contributory factor in stopping the Japanese.

ations only as being conducted by "island-based forces."

At the same time the Navy revealed that the U. S. submarine Shark, a 1315-ton ship launched May 1, 1935, has been overdue for more than a month and "must be lost."

The Shark was under command of Lieut. Com. Louis Shane, Jr., 37, and a resident of Tacoma, Wash.

Commander Shane, along with his crew of 65 officers and men were believed to have perished with their ship.

The Navy stated the next of kin of the personnel of the Shark had been notified.

The other ships lost to the Navy were the submarine Sea Lion and the destroyer Stewart. There were no casualties in the case of either the Sea Lion or the Stewart.

The Sea Lion, which was undergoing an overhaul at the Cavite naval base in the Philippines, was so badly damaged in Japanese attacks in that area, the Navy said, it was necessary to demolish the ship to prevent its capture or use by the enemy.

U. S. HAS NOW LOST 3 SUBS.

These same circumstances surrounded loss of the Stewart. It was demolished while in dry dock at Sumbawa in Java to prevent it falling into enemy hands when the Japs attacked that base.

The submarine brought to three the number of American undersea craft known to have been lost since the war started. Another, the S-26 was lost in an accident near the Panama Canal.

With these losses, America now has 37 less naval vessels than when the war began—not counting replacements.

The mighty blow struck against Japan, however, brought Axis shipping casualties to at least 174 craft, described by the Navy and Army as sunk, believed sunk, damaged or put out of action.

The communique related few details. How the five transports or cargo ships were sunk or possibly sunk was described briefly with the statement that they were "either sunk or ruined by fire and run aground."

"One heavy bomb hit was scored on each of two transports, one troop ship was damaged and left burning and three other transports were damaged," the Navy explained.

Text of Navy Department's 57th communique follows:

FAIR EAST

"Combined operations of Americans and Australian island based forces were conducted recently against Japanese ships and land installations in and near Salamaua and Lae in New Guinea."

"These operations are believed to have resulted in the sinking of two enemy heavy cruisers; heavy damage to and the probable sinking of one light cruiser; damage to a fourth cruiser; the probable sinking of one destroyer; the possible sinking of two destroyers and damage to one large destroyer.

"Five transports or cargo ships were either sunk or gutted by fire and run aground. One heavy bomb hit was scored on each of two transports, one troopship was damaged and left burning and three other transports were damaged."

"One aircraft tender was heavily damaged and two gunboats were damaged, one of which was left burning and is believed to have sunk. One minesweeper was left in flames and probably sunk. "Three seaplanes were shot down and many small boats were demolished. Considerable damage was done to enemy shore installations, aircraft runways and anti-aircraft batteries."

"The heavy losses inflicted on the enemy by the combined American and Australian forces were accomplished with the loss of but one plane."

"There is nothing to report from other areas."

injured and nine of these still are in a hospital here.

The Norfolk advices said that three enemy submarines, one large and two small ones, pocketed another medium size merchant ship off the Atlantic coast early Sunday and sent her to the bottom with two torpedoes placed accurately in the engine room.

Six members of the crew lost their lives. Thirty-three survivors landed at Morehead City, N. C., after being adrift on life rafts from three to nine hours.

The loss of life resulted from the second torpedo which struck just below one of the life boats as it was lowered into the water.

The submarine that fired the second torpedo was about 280 yards from the ship, Captain Theodore Rockhoff reported. "They could see us as plainly as we could see them, and they knew that the lifeboat was being lowered," the captain said. He added that "both torpedoes were placed very accurately in the engine room."

Rockhoff said the attack was carried out by three submarines, two small and one large. They covered the ship on three sides in such a manner that as she continued to move forward she got deeper in the pocket they had formed.

Cuba Offers Men, Sugar, Alcohol to U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 18 (INS)—Cuba, through Subsecretary of War Manuel Perez Benito, today offered men, sugar and alcohol to President Roosevelt in furtherance of the struggle of the United Nations against the Axis powers.

Perez Benito was presented at the White House by Rep. May (D.) of Kentucky, chairman of the House military affairs committee. He pledged the fullest co-operation of his island republic up to and including the dispatch of men to the battlefronts.

SOLONS BACK F.D. STAND ON 40-HOUR LAW

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)

—President Roosevelt's blunt opposition to any immediate changes in the 40-hour-week law found important support in the Senate today, but the House still seemed bent on taking matters into its own hands.

Even in some Senate quarters there were those who believed the war production emergency called for modification of the overtime pay provisions of the statute.

The House manifested every intention of pushing ahead with consideration of legislation which would suspend all maximum-hour laws in war industries, and some staunch Administration backers privately were dubious about the chances of defeating such a measure if it also contained drastic provisions for recapture of all corporate war profits over 6 per cent.

A potent factor in the situation was the unabated avalanche of mail which continued to pour into congressional offices from back home, demanding that all legislative precautions be taken to prevent any further interruption or delay in the arms output. Mindful that this is an election year, more than one legislator apparently was apprehensive lest inaction now be misconstrued by the voters later.

Tests Showed Fewer Colds For LISTERINE USERS

—during 10 years of research—

Fight the menace of colds intelligently! Remember that in tests conducted during ten years of research, those who gargled Listerine Antiseptic twice a day had fewer colds, milder colds, and colds of shorter duration than those who did not use it. So be on guard! Gargle full strength Listerine Antiseptic . . . at least twice a day.

BE WISE... AT THE FIRST SIGN OF A COLD SEE YOUR DOCTOR

THE TRUTH ABOUT FOOD SHORTAGES

A Message to the Grocers of America

YOU GROCERS who have helped American women set the world's best table, easily and economically, have a new responsibility today.

During this war there are bound to be shortages in some grocery items. But we both know that there will be no lack of the basic foods which are essential to proper nutrition. There is and will be plenty to eat for all.

That's where you can do a big job for your country.

You men in direct contact with every family can do a lot for morale by merely stating the facts to your customers and not permitting any of your organization to pass along unfounded rumors and reports.

It's up to you now to sell your customers faith, hope and confidence—to spike grumbling and calamity-howling with optimism and assurance!

So don't say, "You'd better stock up on this—it's getting scarcer every day—I don't know when we will get any more," etc.

Don't permit anything to be said by your employees that can promote rumors and dissatisfaction. That is the kind of "fifth-column" thing we must fight—and you grocers can be of great assistance in helping people keep their chins up.

Face the situation with your usual common sense and well-grounded optimism.

By mobilizing your sales staff to meet this new, broader task . . . by sending customers out of your store with a clear understanding of the sacrifices it should be a privilege to make . . . you will do a real service to your country.

Under present conditions, you will at times be called upon to say that certain foods are unavailable, or to limit the generous quantities you have been accustomed to sell; but we know that you, as quartermaster to the American family, will perform this duty with a sense of pride and responsibility.

Any so-called shortages will, in the main, be caused by senseless buying waves created by dangerous and usually groundless rumors.

Fight against over-buying. Discourage it by setting an example in your own purchasing. Discourage it with your trade because over-buying in itself is the cause of most shortages.

Let your customers know that any shortages will simply require the use of other equally edible and nourishing products—that changing our menus slightly is about the easiest sacrifice we can make for the greatest country on earth. Impress upon them that manufacturers and suppliers are alert and will keep a generous supply of food on your shelves at all times.

Never has there been more reason to provide for a bountiful table in this country. It's an essential part of our war plan that not only our armed forces but people behind the lines are going to be better fed than ever.

War is not new to H. J. Heinz Company. Heinz factories in England, Canada and Australia have been supplying food to the people and armies of our allies. In its 73 years of service, Heinz has helped to feed America during the Spanish-American and the first World War.

Today, new products and new scientific methods of packing are being developed continually as our contribution to the building of a better-nourished, healthier America.

And we are continuing to make available a long list of the famous 57 Varieties . . . prepared from select ingredients in spotless, modern kitchens . . . so that the keystone label still assures the time-saving convenience of ready-to-serve dishes and the delicious flavors all America loves.

For your part, as the direct contact between manufacturer and the people, in the vital distribution of food, you must continue to include the priceless ingredient of morale with every sale—making your store a constant source of truth, courage and inspiration!

U.S. Sends M'Arthur Many More Troops

reached his new headquarters he took over command at once.

It was disclosed that MacArthur, along with his wife, 4-year-old son and a dozen members of his staff, made the flight here through the aerial war zone from Batavia in a United States Army plane.

By direct route the flight would have been 2000 miles to Darwin, nearest Australian base.

With MacArthur were Maj.-Gen.

R. K. Sutherland and Brig.-Gen. Harold H. George.

(Exchange Telegraph reported in a dispatch from Canberra that MacArthur arrived at Alice Springs, road-rail junction of the defense highway from Darwin to South Australia, yesterday, and was expected to confer with government officials in Canberra today.)

The location of United States fighting forces, which have arrived at various ports, could not be disclosed, but they were scattered to camps throughout Australia as they moved up to battle zones.

In some camps they were quartered alongside Australian troops.

Official disclosure that the Americans are here brought profound relief to the Australians—whom, of course, have known it from the start.

"We have not known how to treat you," one Australian merchant said. "We have seen your boys—hundreds of them—in hotels, restaurants and stores, but there had not been a line about them in the papers."

"We were supposed not to know you were here. Now that it is being published, we can make you our friends. We now can begin to show how grateful we are that the Americans are here."

MANY PLANES ARRIVE

Lieut.-Col. Lloyd Lehrbas, Army press officer, said MacArthur's arrival in Australia did not mean that American forces are "pulling out of the Philippines."

"We have been holding the Japanese in the Philippines," Lehrbas said, "and we intend to

U. S. Army Plans Desert Warfare Training Here

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—The Army's first large-scale training in desert warfare will be undertaken soon "west of the Colorado river," officers of the ground forces disclosed today.

Lieut.-Gen. Lesley McNair, commander of the ground forces, and Brig.-Gen. Mark W. Clark, his chief of staff, announced that an area for desert training of ground and armored units had been selected.

The 1942 training program, Clark said, will not include large scale maneuvers such as those of last year. The largest force which will engage, he said, will be an Army corps—three to five divisions.

continue holding them in the Philippines."

Gen. Brett predicted Australia could be held against the largest scale Japanese attack.

He declared that all possible jumping off points for such an invasion were being watched and said Australia was being supplied with as many aircraft as possible.

Prime Minister Curtin looked beyond the smashing of any Japanese attack and, in acclaiming MacArthur and the American ground and air forces here, fore-saw an eventual Allied counter-drive from Australia's shores.

The new command takes over in an hour of peril which has accentuated by Curtin's announcement today that there will be no racing, organized sports or motion picture performances for the duration of the emergency.

WAR COUNCIL PLANNED

(An Australian broadcast, heard in New York by CBS, said the Australian army would retain its identity within the Allied framework under an Australian commander answerable to MacArthur.

(Administrative details, it said, probably will be shaped by an Allied war council in the Australian-New Zealand area, with Australian and American commanders of the separate branches as members under MacArthur's chairmanship.)

For the present, the only action on the developing invasion front reported by the RAAF were aerial skirmishes by both sides.

"Allied aircraft"—which, in the past, usually have meant United States warplanes were participating—were said to have scored hits yesterday on the Japanese-held air-drome at Koeping, capital of Dutch Timor.

Air alarms were reported both at Port Darwin, on the northern Australian coast, and at Port Moresby, on New Guinea across the coral sea from northern Australia, but no bombs fell at either place.

Enemy aerial reconnaissance also occupied over three towns on New Guinea, Ambai, Dugura and Amari.

(CBS heard an Australian broadcast that Japanese air raiders also had attacked two points on the Solomon Islands which flank New Guinea and the supply route to Australia.)

Maj.-Gen. Henry Gordon Bennett, who commanded the Australian imperial force in Malaya, called MacArthur's arrival in the Dominion "the healthiest and most welcome sign we have had."

Nothing Stops U. S. Fliers in Australia

By PAT ROBINSON

International News Service Staff Correspondent
WITH UNITED NATIONS FORCES IN NORTHERN AUSTRALIA, March 18 (INS)—Some of the exploits of American fliers in Australia would be incredible were they not thoroughly authenticated.

Our young daredevils apparently halt at nothing. No gamble is too big for them to take. Odds mean nothing.

SENSATIONAL STUNT

Take, for example, the feat of a lieutenant from Long Beach, Cal., as recounted by his buddy and fellow townsmen:

"I don't think you'll find a more sensational exploit than what he did only three days ago.

"We were defending a certain place. We knew the Japs would be hunting us soon. Sure enough, we got a half-hour warning they were on their way with 15 navy Zeros protecting five bombers.

"We sent up nine pursuit planes which waited at 18,000 feet. Along came the Zeros at 15,000, guarding the bombers 2000 feet under them.

"Our boys dove out of the sun on their tails. Before the Japs escaped we bagged three Zeros and a bomber.

"He (the lieutenant) dove through the Zeros and attacked the bomber which blew up in flaming wreckage that hurtled to earth.

"Meanwhile, Zeros were battling us all over the sky, while the bombers ducked away home, dropping their bombs in the sea.

"His guns jammed after getting the bomber, but he would not leave his pals. He saw a Zero on one pal's tail and he dove at the Jap.

DECAPITATES JAP

"This seems unbelievable, but here is what actually happened. He aimed his wing tip for the Jap's canopy. The canopy is the glass top over the pilot. He tore off the canopy, at the same time decapitating the Jap.

"Only a flier can understand what amazing and daring skill and perfect timing that stunt required. The plane went down and he lost part of his wing and went somersaulting several times before he straightened out, managing to land safely and unhurt.

"We all thought this little dark-haired lieutenant was a goner. But he said: 'No Jap so-and-so is going to get me.'"

A pilot drops in from a combat mission and joins his pals. Asked whether he "got anything," his answer may be:

"Two Nips."

(Everybody over here calls the Japs Nips.)

All the talks eventually wind up in friendly arguments between flier bombers and dive bombers, each claiming superior effectiveness, while the pursuit men kid both.

"What would you birds do without us?" they want to know. The answer is invariably chorused:

DIVES ON CRUISER

"We did all right at this place or that place without you guys." Last night one bombardier said: "Paint the inside of a rain barrel white and I'll drop an egg in it for you from 25,000 feet." The others later told me he could do just that.

Last night one slender, dark-haired lad told me about his recent raid on shipping in a narrow strait where five of his pals and himself got two enemy cruisers, two loaded transports and one destroyer in only two days.

"We left on our mission at 10 a. m. found the Japanese fleet and attacked immediately," he said.

"I picked on a heavy cruiser as my meat and dove at a 30-degree angle from 13,000 feet. The ship zip-zagged furiously but I kept him in my sights by turning with him.

"I came out of the dive at 1500 feet and let him have it. My bomb hit his forward deck, blowing his bow to hell.

"His ack-ack guns were bursting all around me and my gunner was pumping away at four Jap Zeros on my tail blasting at me. He got one of the planes which went down flaming.

"I ducked and got away but my hydraulic pressure went haywire and I was forced to land in the surf on the bay. I got a deep cut in the forehead in landing, requiring these 16 stitches, but the gunner and I climbed out and swam in.

"We scrambled inland at top speed, got a lift in a truck, and here I am."

MacARTHUR'S FIGHTING BUDDIES OVERSEAS — Another new Picture Book with the next Sunday Advertiser.

18 VICTIMS OF SUB DRIFT FOR 38 DAYS

SUVA, Fiji Islands, March 18 (AP)—Eighteen survivors of two ships torpedoed by enemy submarines Dec. 8, two days after the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor, reached safely today with harrowing tales of how 53 others were killed by shellfire, exposure and starvation.

Only seven persons reached land of the crew and passengers of the Donerail, the other 33 having perished.

There were only 11 survivors of the 34 aboard the tanker Prusa M. Chambers of Sydney, a crew member of the Donerail, told a story of great hardships on a 38-day voyage in an open lifeboat.

He said the Donerail was torpedoed and sunk 200 miles from Hawaii.

NEARLY RAM SUB

The Donerail, bound from Suva to Vancouver, nearly rammed a submarine at 9 o'clock at night. Chambers said the submarine crashed but later came to the surface and sent a torpedo at the ship. When the missile went wide, the submarine fired seven shells. Twenty-four persons were killed. Two women, five men and an 18-month-old child, sitting in an outswung lifeboat, were killed outright. Chambers was the only person to survive this shot.

The 24 remaining members of the crew got away in a badly riddled steel lifeboat, which sank to its gunwales. Airtanks kept the craft afloat, however, and the castaways worked two days stuffing the holes with clothing.

They finally arrived after sailing about 2000 miles.

Food and water in the boat were ruined so the survivors existed on flying fish, biscuits which had been soaked by salt water, vitamin tablets and tinned milk.

11 SURVIVORS FROM TANKER

They caught water in the sails as it rained constantly.

Eleven survivors of the tanker Prusa sailed 31½ days and finally reached the Gilbert group.

The Prusa was torpedoed without warning early in the morning, near Hawaii.

Ten men were killed and 21 escaped in two lifeboats. One boat, carrying 12 men, capsized. One man on the other boat died before his companions reached the Gilberts.

ment in the Air Corps. He is given the rank of major.

SERVED OVERSEAS

A civil engineer, Rand served overseas with the 23rd Engineers in the First World War. He is married, the father of four children, and lives on Waverly pl., Melrose.

One man who won't go again was John J. Sullivan, 44, father of two children, of Buckman st., Woburn. A veteran of service at Chateau-Thierry, he is totally disabled and partially blind from wounds and previous war action. Yet, this was his comment:

"My only regret is that I cannot go again."

Another disabled veteran of the last war who served 4½ years Thomas F. Donahue, 42, of Ten Hills rd., Somerville. He already had tried to enlist in this war but was turned down. He was only 17 when he went overseas the last time and was based at Arzonne Woods.

Thomas A. Brewin, Sr., 44, of Windsor st., Cambridge, is married and has four sons, yet he announced he would not seek deferment. His wife, Mrs. Mary Brewin, said she would offer no objection to him going back into the Navy, where he served for two years just after the last war.

MALDEN MAN HAPPY

Dr. Henry Miller, 37, of Clark st., Malden—also No. 44—said the draft was the one thing he was waiting for. He is single.

"I hope I am drafted soon," he said. "I tried several times to enlist in the Army and Navy medical corps but was turned down because of my age. As I can't enlist I war to be drafted."

Dr. Miller served his internship at Lutheran Hospital, Brooklyn, N. Y., and Long Beach Hospital, Long Beach.

Angelo D'Amore of Cleveland ave., Everett, is a civilian employee in the Boston Navy yard. He is married and the father of four children.

A Boston University freshman, Louis J. Callas, 20, of West Springfield st., South End, son of Rev. John Callas, priest at St. Mary's Greek church in Harrison ave., South End, also drew 411.

"I hope I achieve the military records of my father and two uncles," declared Callas.

FROM FIGHTING FAMILY

He revealed that his father was a lieutenant in the Greek army in the last war, was twice wounded and cited for heroism three times. One of his uncles was a major and another a colonel in the Greek army that so valiantly resisted the German army in this war. Their present whereabouts is unknown.

Thomas Morgan, 40, of Fine Hill ave., Roxbury, declared he was happy to possess such a number. Morgan, a worker at the Navy Yard, is married and has three children, Marie, 13, Ronald, 8, and Thomas, Jr., 14 months.

William J. Leahy, 40, of Cushing ave., Dorchester, said: "When my son comes I'll be there" when told that he had drawn the top Massachusetts number. Leahy is married and has an 8-year-old son.

John W. O'Connell, Jr., 30, of 57 School st., Somerville, a graduate of Somerville High School, class of 1927, is employed with the utility firm of Stone & Webster in Boston.

Another Somerville man holding 411 is Adam Edward Sulesky, 40, of West Quincy st., West Somerville, married and the father of two children. He is employed in the sewer division of the Metropolitan District Commission. He has a daughter, Dorothy, 13 and a son, Edward, three.

BACK TO VALLEY FORGE

Stanford E. Chaplin, 40, of Paul Revere rd., Arlington, steel salesman, revealed a military background going back to the Revolutionary War. Chaplin's great great grandfather, Joseph Chaplin fought in the Revolutionary War for three years and was with Washington at Valley Forge.

A Navy machinist in the last war, John L. Whitley, 44, of Windsor st., Arlington, was among the possessors of No. 411. Whitley is married and is employed as a machinist at the Watertown Arsenal.

"I had a feeling my number was on top and wasn't surprised when it was drawn," Louis Weiner, 38, of Angell st., Dorchester, said. "I was headed for the local draft board office when someone told me that 411 had been selected."

Angell is an engineer in the state highway department, married and the father of three boys. He is a graduate of Tufts College. One of the first to congratulate him was Alfred A. Tucker, chairman of the draft advisory board, and a neighbor.

HOPES CHANCE HAS COME

Harvey Nuss, 20, of Walnut ave., Dorchester, gave up his job at the Army Base to enlist in the Marines and was rejected. Now he thinks he's a sure bet to get into the Army.

James J. Boyle, 21, of Vincent st., North Cambridge, said he has been waiting for this day. He is a ship per in a motor company and has a brother, Daniel, 17, in the Navy. The latter obtained permission of his parents last August and is now abroad a cruiser.

John Dawson, 36, of Shepard st., North Cambridge, is a native of Montreal and a returned American. He was graduated from McGill University. He is a photographer.

Martin J. Gibbons, 20-year-old Boston business school freshman, heard his number—411—called while at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Gibbons of Heath ct., Brookline.

"I'll be glad to serve when my country calls," he commented. His twin brother, Austin, Jr., 18, in the service, having been inducted with his National Guard unit last year.

Martin's younger brother, Donald, 14, ribbed him with the taunt "and to think you've never won a raffle in your life before."

Hub's 'T441' Has 8 Young Exemptions

Albert Chapdelaine first met the owners of the T441 club house in 1918.

At 230 in this manner a reporter said a photographer climbed the six steps of his house, 1000 st., Dorchester, to inform him that his draft number was enclosed in the first green capsule drawn by Secretary Simon in Washington.

Usheered into the living room the two intrepid newspapermen soon understood Mr. Chapdelaine's lack of interest, as four children in civilian business in the room, ranging in age from 13 to 16.

"There's four more younger ones in the side bedroom," said Mr. Chapdelaine, yawning.

U. S. CONVOY TO AUSTRALIA BATTLES SUBS

By VERN HAUGLAND

MELBOURNE, March 18 (AP)—The U. S. Navy today reported that a U. S. Navy ship had been hit by a submarine in the Indian Ocean. The ship was the USS Wichita, a transport ship, and was carrying 1,000 troops and 1,000 tons of cargo. The ship was hit by a submarine on March 15, and was damaged. The ship was then taken to the port of Melbourne, Australia, for repairs.

The Wichita was part of a U. S. Navy convoy to Australia. The convoy was made up of several transport ships, and was carrying 10,000 troops and 10,000 tons of cargo. The convoy was attacked by several submarines on March 15, and the Wichita was the only ship that was hit. The ship was then taken to the port of Melbourne, Australia, for repairs.

U. S. Planes Raid Jap Timor Base

CANBERRA, March 18 (AP)—A new United Nations raid on the Japanese air base at Koepang, capital of the Dutch half of Timor Island, was announced in a communiqué today.

Both Australian and American planes presumably participated in the attack. The communiqué said that 10 enemy fighters tried to break up the raid, but without success.

Hits were scored on the Japanese-held airfield at Koepang. "A10" aircraft raided Koepang, Timor, yesterday," the communiqué said. "Poor visibility hampered operations but hits were scored on the airfield."

"Light anti-aircraft fire was encountered. Ten enemy fighters unsuccessfully attempted interception."

3000 Hungry Deer Invade Salt Lake City

By VERN HAUGLAND

SALT LAKE CITY, March 18 (AP)—A massive invasion of deer into Salt Lake City today was reported by city officials. The deer were invading the city from the surrounding mountains, and were causing damage to property and posing a danger to people.

British Fall Back in Burma

NEW DELHI, India, March 18 (AP)—The British left wing in Burma has drawn back about 30 miles, it was disclosed today. In a communiqué, which announced that British troops are in action with a strong enemy force south of Kanyitkwin.

Kanyitkwin is about 30 miles north of the abandoned position of the British, and about 10 miles south of Tonzong. Tonzong is about 220 miles south of Mandalay, on the main Rangoon-Mandalay railway, and appears to be the objective of the Japanese advance.

(A military commentator in London said Japanese troops in Burma had received "strong reinforcements" in planes and personnel which the Japanese are now able to spare from Java. A Japanese claim to "complete air superiority" in Burma was termed exaggerated, however.)

On the British right wing of the Burma front, defending Bhamo, the Japanese appeared to be making no advance.

Bay of Biscay In Danger Zone

LONDON, March 18 (AP)—The admiralty issued a warning today that all of the Bay of Biscay except for a 20-mile strip along the Spanish coast, and thousands of square miles of the Atlantic ocean southwest of England "are dangerous to shipping."

Such a notice usually would mean that the defined zone has been mined or that Britain is planning to carry on unrestricted submarine warfare in those waters.

NEW ENGLANDERS SURVIVE SINKING—Six of 14 survivors of a torpedoed American merchant ship receive medical attention after being brought to shore in New York. The men, all of New England, are Raymond Broderick of Everett, Manuel F. Souza of Somerville, John Leaslago of Boston; (rear) William Brown of Hyde Park, John Johnson of Somerville and James W. Pennell of Harpswell, Me.

Blackout Violator Freed In Lower Bail

Axel H. L. Ostrom of Wilton, N. H., who appealed a fine of $50 and a one-year sentence Monday for violation of the blackout regulations in Norwood, was freed today in reduced bail of $1000, pending his appearance in superior court at Dedham.

A petition for reduction of bail from the $2000 brought Ostrom back into district court at Dedham. Judge Edmund M. Murray allowed the petition, and explained after wards:

"The purpose of bail is not to penalize a defendant but to ensure his appearance before the court. After investigation of this man's background, which establishes he is a property owner, a man with a family and living in Norwood for 20 years, I feel satisfied he will appear before the superior court under the lesser bail."

N. E. Factories Need 20,000 Women

At least 20,000 women workers will have to be hired by June of this year to supply New England factories with the total of 60,000 employees estimated as necessary to enable a 24-hour production program daily in the all-out war effort.

Such was the calculation of the New England Council labor supply bulletin, which points out that more and more men who were previously given occupational deferment in the draft will soon be called to service. Women will have to fill their places, the bulletin says.

Textile Wage Demand Slated for WPB

A War Production Board decision loomed here today in the demands of 40,000 CIO textile workers for a flat 10-cents-an-hour pay raise.

Mill owners, meeting with union representatives in a unique labor-industry conference, declared at the outset that "if labor insists on its demands, the entire matter must go before the WPB."

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Staff Writer.

Gen. MacArthur arrived in Australia on St. Patrick's Day with an old recipe for driving snakes out of the Pacific.

It is compounded of equal parts of daring and dynamite.

MacArthur is the square peg the Japs have been trying to fit into a round hole since early December.

Every time they got a hole dug he pushed them into it.

He is the fellow who erased "It can't be done" from the copy book and substituted "we're doing it."

He is a soldier, a scholar and a gentleman.

He will never step on a Jap's face without murmuring "so sorry."

We don't know what this morale thing is that everybody talks about building but we have an idea MacArthur carries some in his saddle bags.

Thought for the day: MacArthur now pitching for civilization.

Here's another chance for you newshound! The $100 cash awards for NEWS TIPS being offered by the Boston Record-American and Sunday Advertiser will continue for ONE MORE WEEK.

Continuation of the $75 increase over the regular $25 awards offered every week by the News Tip Editor was decided by the tremendous interest shown by amateur reporters during the past two weeks.

Keep your eyes and ears open for news items in your vicinity. As soon as you hear or see something call on the phone and call LIBERTY 4000. We will do the rest.

In addition to the cash awards, 50 pairs of guest theater tickets will be given for the Loew's State and Orpheum theaters, which are co-operating with the News Tip Editor in making these awards. The tickets are for Carole Lombard's latest picture, "To Be or Not to Be," in which she starred with Jack Benny and which has its New England premiere at the Loew's theaters next Thursday.

ALVINO REY BRINGS HIS POPULAR ORCHESTRA TO RKO-BOSTON STAGE FRIDAY

King Sisters Share Program

An outstanding three-unit stage and screen program comprising Alvino Rey and his orchestra, the charming King Sisters, and the New England premier of "Valley of the Sun" starring Lucille Ball and James Craig will be presented at the RKO Boston Theater, beginning Friday.

Alvino Rey makes his initial stage appearance here with his orchestra. The Rey musical outfit recently returned from the Pacific coast where they have just completed the film "Sing Your Worries Away" for RKO, and proved to be one of the most popular bands ever to play in California.

Joining the leader of success with Alvino Rey are the King Sisters, who are known by their radiant, charming and appealing on- and off-stage radio stage.

In addition to the distinctive tempo of the band and the King Sisters, a new film, "Valley of the Sun," starring Lucille Ball and James Craig, will be shown.

Also appearing on the program is the new film, "How Green Was My Valley," starring Walter Pidgeon and Maureen O'Hara.

A feature of the program is the dancing in the new film, "Valley of the Sun," which is a musical comedy. The film is a story of a young man who goes to California to find his fortune and falls in love with a girl who is a dancer.

DONALD CRISP, whose current portrayal won him the best-supporting performance-of-the-year award, and Sara Allgood, of "How Green Was My Valley," Academy Award-winning film which today begins its sixth week on Keith-Memorial screen.

Underseas Life Shown On Old South Screen

For the first time in all its technical beauty, life under the ocean waves is an open book to audience adventurers at the Old South Theater.

Random-hued giant jellyfish, an octopus in his inmost proto, flying fish, gigantic prawning turtles and brilliant foliage, for the first time captured in technicolor by the new-reel camera, are starred in the currently featured short subject.

'Sins of Bali' Continues for 6th Week on Fine Arts Screen

"Sins of Bali" and "She-Devil Island," the Fine Arts Theater's exotic screen program which patrons appear to find endlessly entertaining, continue for a sixth successful week.

The tale of Bali, a pagan paradise, is the locale for "Sins of Bali," which is concerned with the Balinese legend of Wajio, son of a witch, who sacrificed his love for his mother to save his people and the girls he chose to make his wife.

The co-feature, "She-Devil Island," has an all-Mexican cast and was filmed on an island not far distant from Mexico where sen-shells and pearls are the principal features of the Easter parade.

'Our Russian Front' at Trans-Lux

OUR RUSSIAN FRONT" a comedy-drama of Soviet heroism, directed by Lewis Allen, and stars Russ Patterson in the lead role of a "W" aviator who is captured by the Germans and then escapes to the Russian front. The picture is being shown at the Trans-Lux Theater.

By PEGGY DOYLE

As a terse and timely record of a country geared to war and offering the last full measure of devotion to the fight for freedom, "Our Russian Front," which opened last night at the Trans-Lux Theater under the auspices of the Russian War Relief, has the immediacy and compulsion of a 1-A classification.

Of its kind it is hardly a great document. As a closeup of a people whose alarm-clocks have been out-nosed by screaming Stukas and whose children and old men now serve as lookouts to warn of approaching enemy bombers it is as real as anything could be.

DRAMA WITHOUT ACTORS

There were no actors and no director to make an artistic achievement of this camera recording of the Russian reaction to the threat of the invader. What you will see are unadorned "shots" of people fighting for something they believe in, a just something that means survival, death to them.

More than any news bulletin from the front, this thoughtfully shot and edited documentary, the film which is a composite of 15 shots made by a half-dozen Soviet cameramen, realizes the blood, sweat and tears that are behind Russia's miraculous war effort.

ALL-OUT WAR SHOWS

The dauntless barrage of guns, planes and tanks; the unexampled courage of children drafted into service as cleaners in the field to relieve fathers for guerrilla raids and mothers for work in the munition factories; the sudden stoicism of peasant mothers whose sons have adapted become those reckless, brave bomber-pilots the world reads about and glorifies... these make up a picture of all-out war that daunts any drama conceived in a Hollywood story-conference.

In this new kind of all-out war film there are few shots of women waving good-bye to their soldier husbands in their sweethearts; they are too occupied sniping, sabotaging and scorching the blood-spattered earth against the invaders.

'Roaring Twenties', 'Cadet Girl' at Beacon

Beacon's two new screen features for the three days, starting tomorrow, are "Cadet Girl," co-starring Carole Landis and George Montgomery, and "The Roaring Twenties," with James Cagney and Humphrey Bogart.

DOROTHY LAMOUR, who has made such a startling success of capering about under palm trees in a skimpy sarong, looking thoroughly Harper's Bazaar-ish. With Jimmy Dorsey and his orchestra, she tops the cast of "The Fleet's In," due in at the Metropolitan Theater the latter part of the month.

'Big Top' Excitement In Children's Play

All the paint and drums and glamour of the Big-Top will come to Easton on Saturday morning, April 11, when the Clare Tree Major Children's Theater of New York brings "Toby Tyler," last of this year's juvenile plays, to Jordan Hall.

"Toby Tyler" is the story of a boy who ran away from home to join the circus, and then ran back again. It was written by James Otis, who spent most of his life working with and writing for children. Some of the characters in the play are real circus troopers.

MANAGEMENT OF THE PAINFUL MOUTH
IN THE ELDERLY. Dr. J. S. Glickman,
University of Maryland School of Medicine,
Baltimore, Md., presented a paper on "The Painful Mouth in the Elderly." The author discussed the various causes of oral pain in the elderly, including xerostomia, candidiasis, and trauma. He emphasized the importance of a thorough history and physical examination in identifying the cause of the patient's pain. Treatment options were discussed, including topical anesthetics, antifungal agents, and systemic analgesics.

Vet's No. Called

Richard Nixon, a 441 man, heard that his number was the first called while at work as a bartender. A veteran of the last war, he is married, has no children and lives in St. Botolph st., Back Bay. He's happy about being "in front."

His Number's 1817—Winslow Pelton of the Back Bay gets on the phone to tell his friends that his number, 1817, was the second called for New England registrants. He's a brakeman with an Everett coke company.

BOSTON AMERICAN

NAMES OF GREATER BOSTON DRAFTEES

Here are the names and numbers of the first Greater Boston men drawn in the third draft lottery at Washington last night, under the Selective Service Act:

FROM FAMILY OF FIGHTERS—Looking ahead to service in Uncle Sam's Army is Louis J. Callas of the South End, a Boston University freshman and R. O. T. C. member. His draft number is 441, which puts him among the first to be called. His father, Rev. John Callas, was a lieutenant in the Greek Army in the last war . . . and two of his uncles fought Hitler's forces in the battle of Greece. He's shown with his mother, Mrs. Nicoletta Callas, and sister, Stella.

Your Number in Boston American Is Your New England Order Number

Massachusetts has no draft board with a serial number higher than 2711 for this drawing, but in the Washington draw 7000 numbers are picked. Therefore, Massachusetts draft boards disregard numbers higher than 2711.

It is for this reason that No. 441, the fourth number drawn nationally, is the first number to affect Massachusetts registrants.

The American's list is as complete and correct as it was possible to ascertain. Due to a national Draft Board error made early in the draw at Washington and not discovered until late, order numbers given in most cases are one figure higher than they should be. The order of draw of three numbers is also missing because of error in the draw.

Well, They Didn't Take Their Shirts, So That's Something

BERN, Switzerland, March 18 (AP)—There are so many collections of clothing, metal and other articles in Asia countries these days that the population isn't surprised at anything.

Recently in Bucharest men in military uniform appeared on street corners and began confiscating brief cases and overcoats of pedestrians. They explained these articles were needed by the army.

By the time the authorities heard of it, the collectors had disappeared. An announcement said a gang of robbers was responsible.

The draft number of Mayor Maurice J. Tobin, T-829, was the 1277th drawn on the national list. Although his number will be considerably lower on his local board list, the mayor, with a wife and three small children dependent on him, will automatically be placed in the 3-A classification under present rules.

Broadway's Voice

GINGER BUYS BOOKS FOR RANCH

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, March 18—Jack Dempsey is "trying out" all his physical culture experiments on the captain in his restaurant. He's looking very fit . . . Frances Faye, who lost 60 pounds, will do a series of diet articles for a national magazine . . . Songwriter Bob Sour bumped into Johnny Green at the Waldorf the other night and greeted him "Hi, Body!" "Hi, Soul!" returned Green—and that was the first time in a long while that the midnighters have heard them use those nicknames, born of the "Body and Soul" collected on the memorable ballad, "Body and Soul." . . . Just learned that Sherman Billingsley has a special delivery service for "regulars." The boss himself picked up the phone the other day and took an order for chocolate ice cream, petit fours and the morning paper—from Steve Hannagan . . . Eddy Duchin is insisting you hear about the patriotic Broadway who only regretted that he had but two faces to give to his country.

ALL AROUND THE TOWN.

Before she left for the coast, Ginger Rogers began to collect a library for her Oregon ranch. She purchased all the books in print by Somerset Maugham and Ernest Hemingway, plus a complete set of the Modern Library series—263 in all . . . A British officer had a tough time getting through a cluster of people to capture Myrna Loy's autograph in the Stork Club lobby—but he made it. Those well-known Tallulah Bankhead, Jane Clifton Webb, John Garfield and John Haysradt is studying how he soon to be one himself. He needed a good deal of time and blue upon at the Stage. Boyer did an impromptu buck at the Club Frisco . . . A swam the Club 18 inspired Frankie

"Hey, White—some night when we want to get laughs, let's dress like the audience!"

Joe E. Lewis has packed his trunks for a California sojourn . . . Bert Lahr certainly made them lark at Loew's State . . . Familiar sight: Eddie Cantor rushing out of the stage door of "Banjo Eyes" to do his 564325897654th benefit!

FACES IN PLACES: The Paul Felix Warburgs leaving the Ruban Bleu with animal balloons—or is he?—as souvenirs . . . Private Joe Louis looking solemn in the Ubangi Club . . . George Murphy, the screen favorite, looking younger than he does in the cinema . . . Edward Arnold dashing hither and yon on a mulsion and one projects for defense. Edward took actress Betty Gardo to the Capitol to see "Design for Scandal"—and spoiled it for her by laughing fit to kill just before every funny line. He knew what was coming—because he's in the picture!

RUTH CHATTERTON turned from lively conversation with Judith Anderson at the 1-2-3 Club to smile pleasantly at a busboy removing the supper debris.

"Why be so beautiful to a busboy?" the majestic Judith wanted to know.

"My last starring vehicle was written by a busboy at the Automat," Ruth told her. "I'm not taking any chances."

CHARLES BIDLER of the Yacht Club Bay (now rehearsing in "Johnny 2x4") has taken a bride, Phyllis Blithe of Cleveland, Ohio. . . Charles Feldman, the Hollywood star-manager, is conferring with USO officials on the setting up of a clearing house through which movie players could make regularly scheduled appearances in Eastern Army camps. . . Advance reports on Thornton Wilder's new drama, "Skin of Your Teeth," are very Saroyanish. . . Danny Kaye acted as go-between for two urchins outside the Stork Club the other night who were waiting for Tyrone Power's autograph. Danny hated to see the kids up so late, so he went back into the miter, got the autographs from Tyrone and showed the children home. . . Betty De Witt, the Copa beauty is leaving the chorus to marry wealthy Maurice Ulfestler
. . . Major W. S. Van Dyke, the movie director, is a fit victim. . . Among the angels of "Banjo Eyes" there is Donald Nelson himself. . . This-is-war item: Shirley Temple's dollhouse has been sandbagged and adopted as her family's air raid shelter.

BOSTON after DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

WHEN THE NEW YORK LATIN QUARTER opens in May on the site of the old Gay White Way (formerly the Cotton Club and once the Palais Royal) a Bostonian, Lou Walters, will have become the most important night club operator in the entire country . . . The Manhattan spot will be Walter's fourth Latin Quarter, Boston being the point of origin of the chain . . . Peculiarly, Bostonians have been the only important night club "chain" operators in the Roosevelt Era . . . Ruby Foo started 10 years ago with a tiny spot in the Boston Chinatown, and the spot was called The Den, partly because it was so small . . . When the seventh Ruby Foo's Den opens in Washington next month the Boston Chinese girl will be the boss of the original Den here, two in New York, another in Providence, and she will have royalty rights to similar properties in Miami Beach and Hollywood . . . We hear that F. M. Laew, the Boston movie theater operator, is a partner in the New York Latin Quarter.

LAST FALL, WHEN CHARLES W. KOEHLER was elevated to the exalted post of vice president in charge of theaters for the RKO system, this column went out on a limb by predicting that the one-time New England divisional manager at RKO would one day become "one of the five m-a-j-o-r men in the American picture industry." Regarding prospects for Mr. Koehler has been placed in a completely changed RKO situation, succeeding the famous Joe Brown, the gentleman who was reputed to be the brain of the Walt Disney office . . . An important function of Brown's organization is a self-imposed onusship of all movies turned out by the major producers . . . This was Mr. Brown's exclusive department, and he handled it astutely . . . It would be no surprise to this column if Mr. Brown took over his old post.

THE TOWN ABOUNDS in great entertainment this week . . . You won't be disappointed in Beatrice Kay, the shrill thrust of the Latin Quarter's "Gala Nudes" program . . . She is a great little show-woman, and her novel arrangement of "Daddy" will overcome whatever aversion to the song may have been created by its overplugging and the birdlike peep of that girl vocalist who used to sing with Orrin Tucker's band . . . Madelyn White, an exceptional dancer, is headlining at the Coconut Grove, and she is charming and clever . . . Al Taxier has merged the best colored features of "Hellzapoppin'" (in the Charlotiers) and "Louisiana Purchase" (in the person of Dancer Lou Johnson with his regular background of a beautiful chorus, and the result at the Rio Casino is prime entertainment . . . The critical illness of Benny Drehan, the Rio's regular master of ceremonies, however, has kept the management close to a telephone connection with City Hospital . . . The popular South Boston lad is very ill.

BEFORE GETTING BACK TO THE SUBJECT of entertainment, reports must be passed along that Police Commr. Joseph P. Timilty is ailing most seriously than was believed generally. . . . It's a male illness now, and the commissioner will be out of action for some time. . . . "Watch on the Rhine" is one of the best three plays the reporter has enjoyed in 30 years of show-going. . . . The cast is a lot only away from perfection, and Herman Shumlin's direction verifies a long-held suspicion that this young producer is, in actuality, what we all believed (and hoped) that his one-time boss Jed Harris, would prove to be. . . . Jed was a comat artist Broadway. . . . Shumlin seems to have the staying power of a fixed (and brilliant) star. . . . His comical and best work, Lillian Hellman was not at the premiere. . . . Lillian, as in Nazzari working for Uncle Sam, is, literally, she is writing a picture. . . . If it is as pleasant (generally the film—you may agree—will be) as it is—essentially written and with some things to say. . . . It is the first and news we have had of a genuine propaganda being in the hands of an expert. . . . Frances Faye, the only new important star this season who has not previously appeared in a Boston night club, comes to the Mayfair tonight. . . . Take our word for it, Frances is the best thing of her kind in the world. She sings while working at (and all over) a piano.

DEANNA ENDS FEUD WITH STUDIO

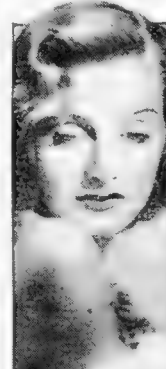

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 18 The story book of Deanna Durbin's kiss-and-make-up movie with Universal sounds like fiction, it is so romantic and unusual. Just about the time Deanna started having her troubles with "U," Derek Holton, an RAF flier sent in a scenario titled "Three Smart Girls Join Up

Although Bolton is an Englishman, his heroine is an American girl. It was, of course, unthinkable that any actress but the little Durbin could play in a "Three Smart Girls" opus. But with baby on a strike there was nothing for the studio to do but let the idea chill.

But Bruce Manning had a hunch all along that the lead wouldn't be permanent, so he left the story away. When the heavy cover and DeMunnich told him to work every thing we got it except they couldn't find the guy in London. He had a car in London and it had the same license plate BAF 1414.

CONSTANCE MOORE

Dawn," and actual shots will be taken along the Norwegian coast.

The story, by Captain C. S. Forester, of "Captain Horatio Hornblower" first published as a London metropolitan serial.

Muni, who has already acted for "The Light of Heart" for the Theater Guild, has worked out an arrangement whereby he will make a try-out for the stage play and then check it and, after a time, the movie assignment.

CERTAINLY "MOBY DICK" is not a low-class Meltonian alley, so to speak, so it is interesting that he is to direct the Herman Melville story. Evident for a moment think this is to be the same story in which John Barrymore appeared so long ago.

The 1942 edition will be the real story as written by the author—and not the sentimental melodrama made romantic to please the movie clients. Henry Blunck will produce "Moby Dick," which is to have the white whale and all the trimmings that made the book so popular.

CONSTANCE MOORE has asked for her release from Paramount, and it was given. That gives her a chance she has been waiting for to go to New York for a musical comedy.

She is so attractive and has such a good singing voice she will probably be a hit on Broadway. She has been given the lead in "Warrior's Husband," a Dwight Deere Wiman production. Rodgers and Hart are writing the music.

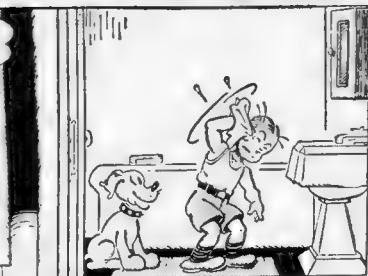

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Barbara Hutton has rented the Brentwood estate of Douglas Fairbanks Jr.

Ida Lupino is in the Celia's of Latham Hospital with a "strep" throat.

The Masked Jury

CASE OF IN-LAWS?

—SHOULD MOTHER LEAVE?

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN OF THE JURY: A year ago my daughter married a young man after a long engagement. Both held jobs at the time and, though neither of them earned a big salary, together they made enough to live comfortably in their own apartment.

Then my daughter gave up her job to have a baby. Her husband received a raise in salary, but what he made was still scarcely enough to support a wife and child.

After the baby was born I came to stay with my daughter until she regained her strength. I am elderly, and I must admit I am lonely since my husband died many years ago. I realized when I came to my daughter's home that mothers-in-law are often ridiculed. Since then I feel my presence in their home is justified because I can supply a little extra money from my tax income to help meet their expenses. I also realize I can help my daughter with her baby. I brought up three children, and I know she relies on me for many little things.

Even so, I know my son-in-law feels I am intruding. I can tell by his "come in, coming" noises that I think he begrudges my help.

I am giving, although he never says so. Under the circumstances, I find myself with a problem:

Do you think I should remain with my daughter until her husband is earning more money?

HOW JURY VOTED

Women—Yes, two; no, four.

Men—Yes, one; no, five.

FOOD CHECKER (woman): No. She sounds like a sensible woman in her letter, but so it is better that young married couples live their own lives.

FOUNTAIN ATTENDANT: Yes. Since her daughter relies on her so much I think she should stay and help them out.

LIVESTOCK AUCTIONEER: No. Two families in one small apartment doesn't lead to anything but future dissension.

RAILROAD CLERK: No. It's all right to send a little financial help, but she ought to let her daughter raise her own child.

STENOGRAPHER: Yes, I'm married too. My mother stays in my house and minds my little girl while I work. I couldn't get along without her.

HOUSEWIFE: No. Regardless of how well intentioned that mother-in-law is, she is making a mistake by staying there.

AVIATION MECHANIC: No. It is the job of her daughter's husband to take care of his own family, and she should let him manage it alone.

STEEL WORKER: No. I think she is staying there because she is lonely and is only trying to find excuses for it.

SALESWOMAN: No. Small apartments are pretty crowded places when a baby comes, not to mention the addition of a mother-in-law.

FACTORY WORKER (woman): No. Almost every mother-in-law thinks she knows more about raising babies than anybody else. The answer is no.

PRESS AGENT: No. Lots of mother-in-laws are okay and many are not. But she ought to let her young couple manage better on their own hook.

BOOKKEEPER: Yes. I am dependent on the woman and the family. Sometimes they can all live happily together.

Birthday Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Wednesday, March 18, 1942
IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY—Hospitable, kind, fortunate in your undertakings (if you consistently concentrate your fine capability on the business of succeeding). Will receive aid from others because of your likeable disposition, sincerity and lack of self-aggrandizement. Encouragement and justifiable praise will help you greatly. Work out new, valuable ideas; study, observe! Mentally you are keen; creative ability, too. Tabu impulsive carelessness.

LUCKY NUMBER—13.
LUCKY COLOR—Orange.
Send 15 cents and large self-addressed stamped envelope to Frances Drake, Boston Evening American, Box 2224, Boston, for an individual horoscope, personal guide and lucky calendar for the first six months of 1942, giving the day and month you were born.

Time Is Here For Us to Hate Right Back!

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Introduced by International News Service

What England requires today is to forget the lessons it learned on the fields of Elton.

What America needs most is to realize that we are hated right down to the ground. And that our roots are hated, too.

So let's get rid of the evaporated, aristocratic hatred filtered through a disdainful lorgnette.

What we want is a hate bank with transfusions of revenge, retaliation and loathing.

Match your enemy poison for poison and treachery for treachery. And we will win the war when we hate with the hate that will make old Satan himself beg for a drink of water.

30 Fin, Rudder Shapes Aid Plane Spotters

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, WEDNESDAY, MAR. 18, 1942

Lesson Six in the Plane "Spotting" Course for JVA members is presented below. This course is taken from Elementary Aircraft Identification, a manual compiled by Frederick R. Hazard, of Providence, R. I., civilian director, Aircraft Warning Service.

LESSON SIX

The shape of the fin and rudder is an important element when observation is being made of the airplane in a passing position. There may be a general rounded effect, or the rudder may be cut off in a sharp, vertical line, or the whole shape may be triangular.

Note the difference between the rudders of the Messerschmitt 109 and the Heinkel 113. At a distance the profiles of these two machines, in the passing position are quite similar with this one exception. The exception is sufficient to easily tell one from the other. It is important to note whether the plane has a single fin and rudder or whether it has dual rudder controls. If it has the dual rudders, the possibilities are greatly reduced.

DUAL RUDDERS

The Blohm & Voss BV 142 is equipped with dual rudders of peculiar five-sided shape. The Consolidated B-24 has dual rudders oval in shape.

The Consolidated PBV has a single fin and rudder that sweep up from the fuselage. The Martin PBM has dual rudders that seem to "toe in" at the top. This is a unique construction.

In determining the TYPE of aircraft and construction characteristics of the machine should be observed as follows:

ENGINES: Is the plane a single motored aircraft? If so, is it either a pursuit or an observation machine.

Is the plane a multi-motored aircraft? If it is four-motored, it is almost positively a bomber, although there are a few German four-motored troop carriers. If it is a bi-motored machine, it is likely to be either a bomber or a troop transport. The few bi-motored pursuit planes can be easily identified by their very slim lines. They are less than half the size of the bi-motored bombers and are streamlined for speed to the last notch.

SIZE: Is it a large machine or a small one?

Distances in the air are often deceptive.

WINGS: Are they stubby, indicating a pursuit plane? Are they long and thin, indicating a bomber? Are they long and deep, indicating a troop transport?

FUSELAGE: Is it short and chunky, indicating a pursuit plane? Is it long and streamlined but broken by machine gun blisters or turrets, indicating that it is a bomber? Is it long, wide and deep,

FOOD

By Martha Lee

OUT OF A BREAD BOX can come the inspiration and the basis for many fine dishes—from breakfast satisficers to sweet dinner-enders. Bread-made dishes are a kind-to-pocketbooks, because not only is the bread economical but it makes the flavor of more expensive foods go farther.

Always make certain however that the white bread used is the "enriched" variety for this contains added vitamin B₁, B₂, B₆, B₁₂, C, and iron. In this way you can be sure of increasing the vitamin B₁ intake of your family while you are catering to their gustatory pleasure. This elusive vitamin is also present in vegetables and meats, but it is easily destroyed by prolonged heat or can be lost in the cooking water.

Reminiscent of grandmother's Ave and in tune with the Victorian Vogue are old-fashioned Eggs Goldenrod. Here a mixture of eggs and butter is enriched with a dash of milk and a dash of brown sugar. Chopped whites of "mashed" eggs, making a smooth white cream, are mixed with the golden brown sugar and brown sugar. The chip-yellow yolks are sieved and sprinkled liberally over the top of each serving to make a colorful dish. Serve extra hot and sparkling red jelly.

EGGS GOLDENROD

- 4 hard-cooked eggs
- 3 tbsp. butter or margarine
- 3 tbsp. flour
- 1½ cups milk
- ½ tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. pepper
- 4 slices enriched toast

Remove yolks from eggs and put them through sieve. Chop the whites. Make white sauce by melting butter, adding flour and stirring in milk and seasonings. Stir constantly until thickened. Add chopped whites. Pour over toast. Put a mound of sieved yolks over each serving. Serve with extra toast. Makes 4 servings.

A feather in the homemaker's cap during Lent is a wide assortment of delectable fish entrees. Individual salmon loaves will take the lead. In her parade of good things to eat, Chunky cubes of bread serve as a binder holding the little loaves together. Chopped celery and finely minced onion merge their distinctive flavors with flaky morsels of pink salmon to create a thrifty, tasty main dish.

A white sauce stepped up with the addition of a little lemon juice or a spicy chili sauce poured over the individual loaves, enhances their flavor.

INDIVIDUAL SALMON LOAVES

- 1 salt (No. 1) can salmon
- 2 cups bread cubes
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 1 tsp. minced onion
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. pepper
- 1 tsp. paprika
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup thick white sauce

Mix salmon and combine with bread cubes, celery, onion and seasonings. Beat eggs and add to white sauce. Stir into salmon mixture and fill into paper 2½ x 4 inches, which have been well greased. Bake in moderate oven for 45 to 60 minutes. Unsalted, and serve with lemon-flavored white sauce or chili sauce. Makes 6 individual loaves, 2½ x 4 inches.

A great favorite for breakfast say it, and say out, is French toast.

FRENCH TOAST

- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- ½ tsp. salt
- 1 cup milk
- 6 slices enriched bread (¾-in. thick), cut in half diagonally
- ¼ cup shortening

Combine eggs, salt and milk.

FRENCH TOAST, made with enriched bread.

Dip slices of enriched bread in the mixture and saute in hot shortening until golden brown on both sides. Serve hot with maple syrup or cinnamon and sugar. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

SPRING BRIDE . . . with full-blown tucks in her hand, looking as though they'd just been plucked! This is a sentimental spring . . . and with it just naturally go all the sentimental bridal traditions. Here is the lucky girl who has an all-white, all-net setting. The headdress of the veil is ruched net, and the picture-book frock has a heart shaped neckline edged with pleated net. The twinkle of her diamond solitaire set in platinum is repeated in the flexible link of her diamond necklace that fits the base of the throat.

CURVED BRIM ENHANCES M'LADY'S SPRING HAT

By BETTINA BEDWELL

FEMININE FACES are going to love a soft, full spring to the brim of a hat. They have given them hats with brims, giving a soft rhythm and cadence as sweet as a song. Everybody who ever thought about it knows that a curved line of beauty and it is the curving line of brims or, so many hats that make an occasion for looking up.

Hats are so often made with soft and pretty brims this season that they take on the hugging curves without the slightest effort.

The Shelly Victoria model in our store has this hugging brim. It is made of silk garter taffeta with vertical stripes of blue and red ribbon set in a firm is soft and hugging and set in graceful, hugging curves.

This hat is really just best. It sets smack down on the face and stays there. Even though the March winds may blow in their usual rough-shod way.

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL—A skin with blemishes could easily take the joy out of springtime, for boy and girl alike, says Arline Gould . . . and so she proceeds to suggest a remarkable pair of aids, a medicated lotion and cream. Margaret Hayes poses.

CREAM AND LOTION NEW AIDS FOR BLEMISHED SKIN

By ARLINE GOULD

THEY SAY with a certain definite and fine pride . . . the creators of a miracle pair of blemished-skin aids, a cream and a lotion . . . that these two couldn't possibly be more healing or more carefully thought out for such problems. You may well believe it, especially when you see how very much in demand they are!

For young skins . . . for boys and men, who appreciate the sensible looking bottles and labels in addition to the miraculous help they get . . . and it has a myriad of uses. Since the lotion is rather opaque, for feminine skins it makes a delightful makeup base. And, in the same department, it may be used to cover up shoulder and arm blemishes for those important spring dances . . . clearing and soothing the irritations even while it covers them up!

These are medicated aids . . . the medicated cream containing prepared calamine, zinc oxide, liquefied phenol, lanolin and petrolatum. It's to be used at night, and in the daytime as a makeup base. If the skin is dry . . . otherwise the lotion should be used instead.

The second bottle of blemishes and over-oily secretions is the medicated lotion, which contains calamine, zinc oxide, liquid phenol and lime water. This one is very successful with the boys . . . they like its forthright appearance and action, with no noise use in the way of perfume. That in itself is another important point to note . . . because even the merest quantity of perfume, which denotes alcohol content, may irritate an already irritated skin.

The perfect routine for getting rid of blemishes and clearing up an excessively oily condition is to combine the medicated cream AND the lotion . . . one for daytime, the other for night. We've known some people with lots to do in the way of clearing up their skins who have evolved a third use for the two . . . using a little dab of the medicated cream as a cleanser. It's so soft and milky that you can do it . . . and help yourself get a head start to a really springlike complexion.

To learn about this unusual pair of blemish-clearing lotion and cream, phone Arline Gould, Liberty 4000, except the week-end, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BILL COWLEY COMEBACK GIVES B'S TITLE HOPES

That little matter of 13 regularly scheduled games has been dispensed with as far as the Bruins are concerned and now the complicated playoffs get under way Sunday, in Chicago against the Blackhawks.

Gambling Lid Off in Florida

MIAMI, Fla., March 15—Miami has been opened as wide as a Florida town of the rollicking sixties and seventies as the natives make a last desperate effort to get some of the tourist money before they may be obliged to pass out of the big chips until after the war.

During the early part of the season there was a reform wave all over Florida. Such little things as slot machines, roulette wheels and horse games were banned.

Young men were made back were hauled into court and placed in wheel spinners so that they would gain a greater respect for law and order. As a result of this crusade some of the big gambling houses are now going to work.

However, the reform wave is about the same spot as far as gambling is concerned as before each season starts.

The first thing that usually happens is a making this year's season a record at the horse tracks but from about 1935 on, the horse tracks have the same old horse track.

With the season of 1941-42, each of the race track sports it was decided to keep the opposition. As a result the bookmakers and other sports gamblers were placed under fire of the law.

If one were to gamble it was argued it must be done at a horse track where the state fathers would see that the spoils were properly divided.

The drop in the tourist business caused by the war caused the authorities to let the ban on gambling as soon as Hialeah Park closed. There is now a slot machine for every citizen who has the necessary quarters, dimes and nickels and the strength to pull a lever. In fact, it is a question as to whether there are not almost as many slot machines in operation as there are oranges on the trees of the fertile Indian River section.

So that the owners of the machines may be able to pay hotel bills and overhead the machines have been set so that the operators get 80 per cent the best of it. This is in compliance with the best rules of Florida gambling which say that one should never give a sucker a break.

Autoists Return

A checkup of autoists in the Miami and Palm Beach areas shows that 75 per cent of the people who came to Florida by automobile this winter have come back.

Other than the autoists did not come to Florida this season on account of the rationing. People from the North have hesitated about giving a 100 to 100 miles of mileage on their tires just to get a little sun.

The weather in Florida was cold during January and for most of February. Most of the winter months with Old Sol shining over 80 degrees on most days, and with the temperature of the water around 72 degrees.

Under the circumstances, it is not until after most of the tourists from the North had returned home.

Unless there is a striking change in the fire and ice situation, I would expect the autoists to be more or less wrapped up for the duration. Even if the rationing of tires and oil is eased, there is the place has been a long time in a bad period.

Miami will be the chief sufferer as it has built too many new hotels during the past five years. I often wondered where the optimistic hotel men expected to get the cash customers to fill their hotels.

Baseball Interest

There is considerable baseball interest. With the Giants training here, local fans have had an opportunity to see many of the big league stars. I have discussed the case of Ted Williams with many fans.

At first there was a disposition on the part of the public to criticize Williams, but the thoughtful slugs told that he is playing baseball only so as to care for his sick mother there has been a wave of sympathy for him.

Williams has made it quite clear that he has not a great deal of money and that his mother would not be properly cared for if he were not to play baseball. Williams has been frank in giving all of the details of his family affairs, and the fans are now inclined to give him a break.

Williams is expected to enlist in the Navy when the 1942 season closes. He has had an opportunity to save enough money to pay the cost of the war for the duration of the war, Williams will receive $10,000 a season.

Just Like Summer

There was no day in Mudville, alias Boston, today, what with the Braves being shellacked by the Dodgers' second stringers at Daytona Beach, and the Red Sox crushed by the minor league Louisville club at Bradenton.

Pitchers couldn't pitch, batters couldn't field and hitters couldn't hit at the right times at all. If the old-time gag is true about Grapefruit League busts being the teams to watch, then Braves and Hose proved themselves probable pennant winners, yesterday.

The Grand Old One of the Garden City has Bruins of the Lowly Americans 5 to 3 to add the slim hope the Bostonian had of sneaking into sixth place to get a seat at the Stanley Cup.

A goodly attendance of 15,000 turned out to look on the return of Cowboy Bill Cowley.

On this little shock title playmaker the Bruins' playoff hopes apparently rest and it was, therefore, interesting to see what Bill would do after a six-week layoff with a badly shattered jaw.

He returned to the old spot between Ray Connolly and Eddie Wiseman. To say that he was his old self and that he was ready to go all out would be a slight exaggeration.

While it is true that he never missed a game and made 10 appearances he did not shake and hold; instead that week of flipping passes. That unsteadiness was to be expected.

JACK MCGILL
Stays in Spotlight

But taking everything into consideration, Cowley did fairly well. Bill, himself, was very much pleased after the game and he said:

"Frankly, I was worried before the game. If I was unable to go, I was going to forget hockey for the rest of this year. Now, I know I'll be O. K. I'm going to work out tomorrow (meaning this noon) alone, and on Thursday."

"I probably won't set the world on fire Sunday but I'll be better than I was tonight and by Tuesday you should see the same old Cowley rolling on high."

TEN B'S SHARE IN SCORING

There may seem like undue optimism on the part of the players who won't be in the game for a long time. But the same Cowley, who is expected to be in the Bruins' playoff series next week, already had ten career hat-tricks in his time.

But even so, Cowley and Bill, who are the Bruins' top scorers, are not the only ones who have scored. The Bruins' scoring and top honors went to the McGills who have been the Bruins' sensation down the home stretch. With the return of Cowley, McGill can't be out of the Bruins' and Dutch Hiller.

Operating on a new line meant little to McGill who picked up two goals and a pair of assists to be high for the night.

Bruce garnered three assists and the third member of the line—Hiller helped himself to a goal and an assist. Other goal makers were Smith, H. Jackson, Cain and co-captain Jack Crawford who notched his second tally of the year on a solo. Cowley, Smith, H. Jackson and Cain picked up assists while Art Jackson was credited with a pair of assists.

South Boston Boy Loses Glove Bout

NEW YORK, March 13 (AP)—Son of a Gun, South of the Border, the champion South Boston boy, lost his title to a South Boston, Mass., boy, in three rounds in the Golden Gloves amateur bouts here.

Boy Admirer of Vander Meer Trails Hurler Up Glory Road

By HERB FINNEGAN

SARASOTA, Fla., March 18—Johnny Vander Meer and George Burpo, and therein lies a tale.

There are only two left-handed pitchers in the major leagues.

Back in 1938, when Vandy was creating baseball history by pitching two successive no-hit no-run games against the Braves and Dodgers, young Burpo was going to a school dreaming of the day when he too would be a big leaguer like his idol Vander Meer.

"I used to read about him and dream about him," said the sloped-shouldered blond from the mining town of Jenkins, Ky. "Our high school wasn't big enough to have a baseball team, but every chance I'd get I'd go out with the rest of the kids and play ball."

DAD CINC FAN

"Dad was a red-hot Cincinnati fan, and a happy kid I was one day when he drove me to Cincinnati 300 miles away to see Vandy pitch."

"I loved then and there I'd be a big leaguer, though I never thought I'd ever be on the same club with Vandy. And Dad always kept after me to see that I got plenty of practice."

Young Burpo was picked up by a Cincinnati scout while playing semipro ball around his native Jenkins, and was sent, when he was 16, to Muskegon in the Western Association. He was a novice, naturally, and got into only a few games, winning one and losing four.

"It was wild," he confessed, "and nervous."

Next season, 1940, found him at Tucson, Ariz., where he decorated the bench most of the season and compiled a 3-5 record. Last year he had conquered his wildness to some degree and had the respect of 118 at Birmingham and Tucson.

So pleased was Bud McKechnie with the kids' progress that he took him South this spring to give him the once over. So here he is.

a company of such great pitchers as Earl Berringer, Buckie Walters, Hitter Riddle, Vander Meer Junior, Thompson, etc.

"PITCHES LIKE GROVE"

He was pitching batting practice when we first saw him, a lanky six-footer of 192 pounds who was really pointing the ball in.

"Pitches like Grove," commented Ted Williams, who notes every pitcher's every hitter's idiosyncrasies. "Perfect follow through. Looks like he's got some thing, too."

McKechnie seconded the motion. "The kid can't miss," he prophesied. "Needs some experience to get over his wildness, but he's got everything else. Fast, good curve, and is learning a change of pace."

"No, I won't keep him. It wouldn't be fair to the kid. He's young and strong and needs steady work to improve his control and learn to pace himself. He wouldn't get much work with us this year, so he's better off on a farm."

McKechnie is noted for his judgment of pitchers, also for his patience with them. Remember how he nursed Vandy along after the others' letdown following those two 1938 no-hitters?

VANDY WINS FLAG

Everybody thereafter expected Vandy to pitch a perfect game next time he trotted out to the box. He would have been a top pitcher sooner had he never tried those no-hitters, bad players say.

In 1940, two years after he had made the first page of the national press, Vandy was shipped to Boston to join the Red Sox.

He was sent to the Sox because of the Sox's need for a left-handed pitcher. The Sox had just lost their ace, Noodles Hays, to the Yankees. The Sox were looking for a pitcher who could handle the Yankees' lineup.

And we can see that the Sox were looking for a pitcher who could handle the Yankees' lineup. The Sox were looking for a pitcher who could handle the Yankees' lineup.

"I've got enough starting pitchers now," mused McKechnie. "I just want Jim to be ready for the double-header season."

Jim was ready when he was wanted, winning 14 games out of 19 in his first season with the Sox.

And so it goes with Vandy. The kid is a natural, but he's an exception to the rule. He's a natural, but he's an exception to the rule.

ROOKIE, OH, 1941
He'll spend the rest of his life about the Sox. He'll spend the rest of his life about the Sox.

When McKechnie was 17, he was sent to the Sox. He was sent to the Sox because of the Sox's need for a left-handed pitcher.

That's all. That's all. That's all.

SOFT FOOTING IS BLAMED FOR TABOR'S AILING ANKLE

SARASOTA March 18—Things worth revising: A major league ball player cannot be fined in the spring. That means the $350 fine recently imposed by Larry MacPhail on Kirby Higbe is null and void. Ball players are not paid during spring training, therefore cannot be fined.

Only way a club owner can penalize a player is to declare him in unfit condition and make him pay his own expenses until he gets in trim. Or, at the season's opening, suspend the player without pay. But what club is going to keep Higbe on the bench when said club needs every game it can get to win the post.

A ballplayer cannot be fined during a World Series either. There was the time during the 1934 World Series when Catcher Delancy of the Cards was raising havoc with the ump's. He was threatened with expulsion from the game and a fine.

"You can't fine me and I know it," he'd bark.

A ballplayer's salary closes with the last game of the season. Technically he does not get paid for the World Series. And, as in spring training, he cannot be fined when he isn't being paid.

On the other hand, an umpire is paid by the league for his services during the World Series and can be fined.

Jim Tabor is having the same trouble with his left ankle that kept Joe Voshick idle down here for several years; that kept Hornsby walking instead of running for years; that handicapped Joe Doherty last year. . . . The soft footing, especially that in the outfield, does not agree with some players' ankles. It causes a swelling between ankle and heel which is very painful.

Batsman who gave Ken Cline, the most trouble since old Charlie Gehringer, now coach of the Tigers "Smartest hitter I ever saw," says the new Sox southpaw. "Yes, smarter than D.Maggio or Williams. Gehringer was slipping when I first faced him, too. I'm glad I didn't have to face him when he was in his prime."

Some tribute from a left-handed pitcher to a left-handed batter.

Any Karl's knuckler is the talk of the camp. It's a real butterfly ball, and if he has anything to balance it he's going to fool a lot of hitters. Karl has a baby girl three years old and has a cottage down town. . . . Tex Hughson like-wise is living down town with his three-months-old Dixie Lee Hughson.

The Sox pay too little attention to hunting during batting practice. . . . Most of the boys try a bunt but if it isn't satisfactory, they seldom bother to try it again. . . . They'll be sorry. . . . Little Tommy Griffith Cronin now wears No. 4 on his back, just like his managerial Dad. . . . Tommy used to wear the number 1 last year but he's grown a lot since.

Old Butch Henline, who was a good hitter with the Phillies, has helped warm up the Red Sox pitchers in the absence of Pytlak.

PICODERBY CLIMAXES SKI SEASON

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

The skiing Meads, Brad and Janet, directors of the famous Pico Peak development at Rutland, Vt., pursued the sport extensively a few years ago in Europe. While at Davos, Switzerland, they attended the Parsenn Derby and it was this classic that gave them the idea of holding the Pico Derby on their own mountain next Saturday.

The Pico Derby is patterned accurately after the Parsenn Derby and differs from the ordinary race in that the competitors are divided into groups according to their age and classification.

Instead of having the beginner face the top-notch racer he will compete only against those of his age and classification.

The classes are: Ski-Gnome—all ages up to 17 years; Junior I—17 to 20; Senior II—20 to 30; Senior I—Class "A" racers only; Veteran I—30 to 35; Veteran II—35 to 40; eVeteran III—40 and over. The women will race separately from the men and will be classified in the same way.

FASTEST TIMES WIN

Winners of the Pico Derby will be the man and woman who turn in the fastest times of the day on the wide Sunset Schuss Trail which winds to the summit, finishing at the Alpine Lift lower terminal. Each will be awarded a cup.

There will be a special prize for the winner of the Ski-Gnome class and the Pico Derby Badge will be given to 20 per cent of the contestants. The winner in each class will be presented with a gold ski; a silver or bronze ski is won if a racer comes in within a specified time related to the Pico Derby winner.

Many gay and social events are being conducted in this region during the week, climaxed by the Derby Ball on Saturday evening where all awards will be made.

SKI SCRIBBLINGS: A card from Pvt. Arnold C. Black, former night air director of the Record-American advertising art department, now stationed at Tacoma, Washington, tells us that he skied here last Sunday at Paradise Valley, Mount Rainier.

This was the first time this ski expert has been on the hickories in more than a year. He rented all of the equipment and says that he never had better skiing, "even the Alps could not be better!"

GRAND WINDUP

Those Monday Ski Evenings, which have been so popular all season at the Hotel Vermont in Boston, will have a grand windup next Monday evening when the Ski Bulletin Ball will be run by Delphine Carpenter and Betty Danker, who are putting on the affair for the noted ski publication.

Open to the public is this get-together and there will be, in addition to the square and modern dancing, exhibitions, contests and prizes. Many of the local ski clubs are going to make this event their official spring frolic.

We recently heard the story of the chap who had been trying for some time to make a long-anticipated trip to Sun Valley. After a wearisome and tedious journey across the country, he finally arrived at this publicized resort, stepped off the bus, and broke his leg on some ice! Moral: Ski New England First!

Greg Rice Scoffs at Four-Minute Mile

NEW YORK, March 18—One of the best informed men on the limitations of the human body, insofar as foot-racing is concerned, is Greg Rice, and he is inclined to scoff at the possibility of a four-minute mile after having seen Leslie MacMitchell defeat Gil Dodds in Saturday's epic.

Rice, who came only nine-tenths of a second from his own world two-mile record Saturday, saw what he believed to be the "dream mile" in the making, and like 15,500 others he saw it vanish, too, in the fantastic feature of the K. of C. games.

TOUGH ORDEAL

"There was your four-minute mile, with Dodds doing his first quarter in 58.1 seconds and finishing the half in 1:59.7, and what became of it?" he asked. "It was the pace that the four-minute mile demands, and you saw how the human body reacts."

It reacted with rapidly diminishing speed, reflected in a 2:08.3 second half that produced a 4:08 mile. MacMitchell recovered quickly from the effort, yet said it was a more punishing race than the one in which he equalled the world's indoor competition record of 4:07.4 last year.

Heretofore he had considered that his toughest ordeal.

GRUELING LAST LAP

"I felt all right four laps from the end," he recalled. "The fast pace didn't disturb me at all. When we hit the three-quarters in 3:03.5 I said to myself that one of us was going to get the record, and I felt that I would be able to outstrip Dodds for it. When they announced 4:08 I was terribly disappointed."

"I didn't think we would slow down that badly in the final quarter, but I guess the human body has its limits. It wasn't till the last lap that I really felt tired."

"Coming down the stretch into the final lap, I moved up close to Dodds and suddenly realized how fatigued I was."

"I decided to wait till the long backstretch to make my challenge, and if I couldn't pass him then to keep on his outside and continue the challenge around the last turn and into the stretch.

"But when I made the challenge, I passed him with surprising ease. Later in the night, Dodds and I were watching the two-mile race together and he asked me, 'Where do you get your speed?' But does Macy's tell Gimbel's? Dodds told me he has never run a half-mile faster than 1:55. He had a lot of courage to go out as fast as he did in the first half."

While his body was boiling with pain coming into the finish, MacMitchell unconsciously helped answer the question: What does a mileer think about? John Trachy, assistant N. Y. U. track coach, leaped upon the edge of the track to watch the finish, and a startled front official, not recognizing him, tried to push Trachy back.

The young coach shook off the badger and in a brief tussle knocked the gentleman off the track.

Meanwhile MacMitchell was coming home a winner in the most critical race of his career, believing he was making a world's record. Later when he saw Trachy, he asked:

"What were you and that official fighting about?"

He had watched every bit of it!

COX-DIABLO TOP MAT CARD

37

Joe Cox and El Diablo wrestle tonight at the Arena in the main event of the weekly mat show. Judging from advance notices they're likely to tear each other to shreds.

Thus it will be difficult for the survivor, if any, to challenge the world's champion Angel, as said survivor is scheduled to do.

However, Cox and Diablo will be in there shredding each other for the privilege of a meeting with the Angel and the customers are likely to have a merry time of it during the duel.

El Diablo is very slick and rough, not to mention mysterious, and Cox eats steel shavings for breakfast food, just as a starter. You can imagine what an unpleasant citizen he is by 10 p. m., just about the time he'll face Diablo.

After you're through imagining, just look at this supporting program:

Athletes Top Harvard Class Committee

Harvard athletes dominated election of officers today with four members of the football team and three of the basketball players comprising the Class Day committee.

Diik Pfister, guard; Vern Miller, tackle; Tom Gardiner, tackle, and Ted Lyman, back, were elected from the grid squad while Capt. John Finegan, George Webber and Ed Rothschild were choices from the court squad.

Abbot T. Finn, Concord, goalie on the hockey team, was selected as permanent class secretary.

The permanent class committee included George Heiden and Charles "Burgie" Ayres of Coach Dick Harlow's grid squad, Pete McGowan, from the golf team, and William Parsons, Jr., from the baseball team. Harry Newman, Jr., and Cokes Phinny completed this committee.

STENGEL UNCOVERS MOUND FIND IN NASHVILLE'S HUSKY JACK SAIN

By BILL GRIMES

SANFORD, Fla., March 18—Realizing all other Grapefruit League clubs have been in camp from two to four weeks longer than his boys, Casey Stengel isn't allowing defeats the Braves have suffered at the hands of Washington, Cleveland and Brooklyn to get under his skin.

Under Case has been in the game long enough to realize that it's too much of a gamble to insist upon players taring down before they are in condition.

It will be at least a week or ten days before the Braves will be fit to match the pitching and hitting of their opponents. They are scheduled to play a return engagement with the Indians at Clearwater on Friday. Over the week-end, they'll take on the Browns in a home-and-home series.

SAIN GOOD PROSPECT

In order to get more men into action Bob Quinn is trying to book games for the Braves' B team with Double A clubs which are training hereabouts.

Although the Braves have dropped three out of four games, Stengel believes he has uncovered a promising pitcher in Jack Sain, who was with Nashville last season and is here on a "look."

Apparently Sain is a trifle smarter than most pitchers, though he had his troubles yesterday as the Dodgers subs beat the Tribe.

Even before he knew that Manager Larry Gilbert was going to send him to the Braves, Sain began to condition himself for spring training. He worked out in a gymnasium in his home town in Belleville, Ark., for a couple of months and then, when the weather was favorable, did some pitching.

SAIN TALL, HUSKY

Jack is a six foot-three-187-pound right-hander. He broke into organized ball in 1937 at Osceola, Ark., in the Northeastern Arkansas League, to which club he was sent by Doc Prothro, who at that time was managing Little Rock.

The following year he went to Newport, Ark., but the league blew. In 1940 he went over to Nashville and asked Gilbert for a tryout after he had been declared a free agent by Judge Landis.

Although his record wasn't too impressive at Nashville, Sain caught Pat Mahan's eye and the Braves scout told Quinn to pick him up at the purchase price was right.

At the close of his first season as president of the Braves, Quinn bought Bill Perrin, a southpaw pitcher, from New Orleans. Larry Gilbert was manager of the Texans and when Perrin flopped he felt that he had done Quinn a rank injustice.

So when Quinn asked for a price on Sain, Gilbert said:

"I sold you a bum pitcher about five years ago, Bob, and that deal never set well with me. You take Sain south. Look him over and tell me what you believe he is worth. In other words, you can set the price on him."

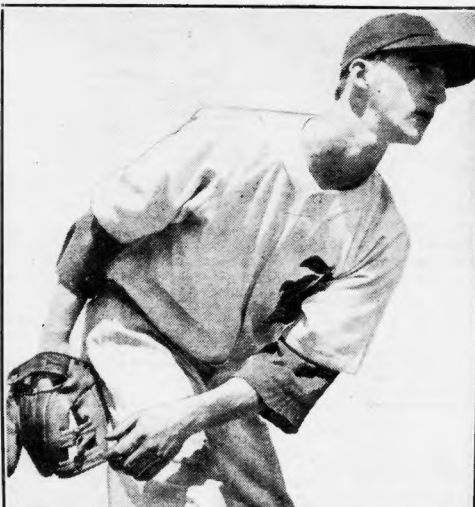

Throughout the Southern Ass'n, the fans called Sain another Dizzy Dean. Jack doesn't like that comparison. He admits he's afraid that the followers of baseball will think he's the screwy type of ball player.

Herbert Defends 600-Yard Title In Chicago

CHICAGO, March 18 (INS)—Jimmy Herbert of the Grandstreet Boys' Club, New York City, will defend his 600-yard championship in the Chicago relays at the Stadium Friday night, it was announced today.

Herbert's entry was followed by the scratching of Gene Little of Nebraska in the "600." Little was withdrawn by his coach, Ed Weir, in the belief that the corn-husker wasn't in shape to go 600 yards against the competition of Herbert. Roy Cochran of Great Lakes naval training station, Bob Ufer of the University of Michigan and Charles Beetham of Columbus, O.

TRIBAL GUNNER—Warren Spahn limbers up for Braves mound duty. He's one of the newcomers on whom Casey Stengel is banking. Spahn has shown lots of stuff. Mayhap he can get the Braves in the flag fight. Another 1914 miracle?

Casey to Crack Down On B's Slow Starters

SANFORD, Fla., March 18—"I'm fully satisfied that my players are all in fine physical condition," declared Manager Casey Stengel after that week-end round tripper in a bus to Miami Beach.

"So from here in, my boys will bear down plenty, or else. "I want them all to show cause why I should keep them on our payroll."

"During training seasons the veterans hold back. That's all right for awhile. I should know all about them from personal observation. But, and this is important, I must know before I give them a berth on the club, whether or not they've gone over the hill."

TEAM UNSETTLED

"In less than a month the National League season will be under way. Yet I couldn't come within five positions of giving you the names of the players who will start in Philadelphia on April 14."

"We've some pretty good looking kids in camp. They're going to be tough to brush off. You can see that it is very essential that I get a line on the 1943 form of some of my veterans."

"From time to time I've been in huddles with the boys who, in my opinion, didn't earn their salaries last year. They'd better begin to show me something in the very near future, or Joe Conway will have a flock of uniforms to renovate."

"Already a couple of the youngsters have impressed me favorably. I mean Tommy Holmes and Clyde Klutts. They'll help us, or I'm badly mistaken. Holmes is a finished and polished ball player. He looks particularly good at the plate. He'll hit in the National League just as well, if not better, than he did in the minors, where he batted better than .300 every year."

MAY BE SLOW STARTERS

"Young Klutts is an ambitious kid. He wants to be a big league catcher. He will be, barring accidents. He seems to be a smart receiver, has a great arm and he takes a good cut at the ball.

"Although I'm disappointed in one or two others, it's too early to pass judgment on them. Maybe, they're slow starters and require a month or so before they show to advantage."

"During the next two or three weeks, many of my problems should solve themselves. If that big Ross continues to improve I won't have trouble sleeping. He's getting more and more confidence and once he forgets all about his ankle, he'll be the Ross of two years ago, when he connected with 19 home runs."

Tiny Yank Pops Off at Giant Ump

By the Associated Press

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Funniest incident of the spring training season happened yesterday when the New York Yankees' shortstop, 5-foot 5-inch Phil Rizzuto, stood right up and argued with 6-foot 4-inch Umpire Carl Hubbard about a third strike.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Young Don Kolloway, the Chicago White Sox second sacker, got six hits against the Chicago Cubs and the Philadelphia A's in the past two days.

ORLANDO, Fla.—Catcher Jake Early of the Washington Senators has found out that the Brooklyn Dodgers can be rough even in an exhibition game. He was thoroughly shaken up in yesterday's encounter with Johnny Rizzo.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—The St. Louis Cardinals, seeking their ninth straight Grapefruit League triumph, designated Bill Lohman, Lon Warneke and Harry Breechen to pitch today against the Boston Red Sox. So effective were Max Lanier and John Beazley in yesterday's 1 to 0 triumph over Cleveland the Card outfield had only two chances.

DATONIA BEACH, Fla.—Kirby Higbe, one of Brooklyn's better pitchers, will see today what a period of rest has done to the "catch" in his shoulder. He is slated to take the mound against the Detroit Tigers.

CLEARWATER, Fla.—The New York Giants came here today for the first of 15 games with the Cleveland Indians, who are gloating over the pitching ability of Ray Poat, up from Cedar Rapids of the Three-Eye League. Poat yesterday limited the St. Louis Cardinals to one hit in five innings.

ONTARIO, Cal.—Rumors that Phil Cavarretta might be sold to the Philadelphia Athletics were sidetracked today by Manager Jimmy Wilson's remark that the three left-hand hitting outfielders he intended to keep for the Chicago Cubs' National League campaign were Cavarretta, Bill Nicholson and Charley Gilbert.

DE LAND, Fla.—The St. Louis Browns moved over to Orlando today for a tussle with the Washington Senators. Don Gutteridge, pride of the Brownie rookie infielders, got half of team's six hits yesterday and scored the run that beat Kansas City, 7 to 6, in 10 innings.

MIAMI, Fla.—Hank Leiber, husky New York Giant outfielder, played only one inning of yesterday's 16 to 2 defeat by the Cincinnati Reds because of blistered feet. His ailments gave Babe Borna a chance to shine in the outer garden.

TAMPA, Fla.—Rookie Ray LaMauro, apple of Bill McKechnie's eye, will be on the shelf for a few days. The Cincinnati Reds' rookie catcher injured two fingers yesterday on a foul tip off the bat of Johnnie Mize.

When "Little Monk" takes charge it probably will be the first time that a major college football team has ever had a father-and-son combination with the son as head coach and the father as trainer. TURFMEN AID DRIVE FOR BINOCULARS

By the Associated Press

New York racing authorities and other patrons of the sport have resumed their drive to provide Uncle Sam with all the binoculars his Navy needs. The sailors desire the loan of thousands of the type used by owners, trainers and handicappers at the track.

To facilitate the immediate delivery of the glasses to the Navy, the sportsmen have established an office and will even provide messengers for collecting purposes in the metropolitan area.

Because the Navy cannot accept gifts, $1 will be paid each person turning in glasses which fill the requirements. After the war, efforts will be made to return each glass to its owner.

More than 50,000 sets were turned over to the Navy during World War No. 1 and all but one glass was returned.

Don Meade will ride either Sir Marlboro or Bull Reign in the Coral Gables Handicap Saturday. If Omission goes to the post in the Rowe Memorial at Bowie, a stake he won last April, the little man who led the nation's riders during 1942 will fly to Maryland for that race. Market Wise, Lou Tufano's Cinderella horse, will not race in the Gables Handicap. Trainer George Washington Carroll says the horse suffered several leg cuts in its disappointing appearance in the Widener and will be rested until mid-April.

Col. Ed Bradley's Best Seller, surprise second-place horse in the Widener, carried the stable's green and white silks to the front in the St. Patrick's Day purse at Tropical Park yesterday.

Sterling Young gave the Blue Larkspur four-year-old a smart ride and came home a length and a half from Mrs. C. S. Bromley in Question.

Best Seller was the 11 to 20 choice and was clocked in 1:41.2-5, just a fifth of a second off the track record. Third went to Ruth Siddell's Displayer.

Olympics Bid For Triple Tie

Olympics face a fine opportunity tonight when they tackle the Atlantic City Sea Gulls at the Garden.

If they can overcome the Gulls, they will step into a triple tie for first place in the final standing of the Eastern League.

Coach Bert Corbeau will unveil a new player for the Boston public when he sends Frank Ray on the lee.

Ray is the same youngster who started this year with the Junior Olympics. He has been with the Gulls for about a year. His home is in Belmont.

While Corbeau will be introducing Ray to Boston, Hago Harrington has a new man to offer. The Olympic addition is Don Veigel, who joined the New Englanders in Washington last night. Veigel has been playing with Akron, where he was the top scorer.

the youngster has been around ever since except for three years as athletic director and football coach at Transylvania College just after he graduated from Tulane in 1933.

Both father and son have coached Tulane baseball and basketball teams, and "Little Monk" is now head tutor in the latter sport. His father also has coached in boxing, but now sticks to his duties as trainer and instructor in physical education.

Line Coach Charley Rucker, who captained the 1928 team, was named chief assistant of the all-alumni staff.

VEZNA AWARD SEWED UP BY BRIMSEK

Stanley Cup defender Bruins open Series B against the Blackhawks in Chicago Sunday night . . . the second game will be played here Tuesday and if a third is necessary, it will also be here Thursday . . . The squad will work out tomorrow at noon and leave for Chicago late Friday afternoon.

The Americans were bitterly disappointed after last night's defeat and feeling ran high in their dressing room . . . Red Dutton and Wilf Fields who were arguing on the bench carried it into their quarters and there was said to have been some tugging and hauling before they were separated.

The Rossmen showed a swell assortment of head gear . . . Bill Cowley wore a steel mask to protect his jaw, Jack Crawford wore the regulation helmet, while Dutch Miller had a special head-dress much like a boxer's gear to protect his torn ear . . . after the game Miller had the eight stitches removed from his ear.

ART ROSS HONORED

Before the game four representatives of the gallery gods came down on the ice and made their annual awards . . . they gave watches to Frankie Brimsek and Jack Crawford for outstanding play, and presented Manager Art Ross with a ring for his service to Boston hockey.

Frankie Brimsek officially sewed up the Vezina Trophy last night for the second time in four years . . . he was credited with having 15 goals scored against him, while Turk Broda, his nearest competitor, has 129 against him with a game to go.

Prior to last night, the Americans had beaten the Bruins four times in a row but they weren't close last night . . . Pat Egan had a bad hip and saw very little action—he was really missed, too . . . the game would have been very mild but for Brooklyn's Jack Church . . . he gave Conacher the "workie" after the bell rang ending the second period and Roy went after him but players separated them . . . late in the game, Church tangled with little Art Jackson and the Bruins' wing whacked him on the side of the noggin.

Jack McGill has been a sensation this past month . . . this kid who was with the Olympics until February 15 made this terrific hop from amateur to major league hockey and in 13 games has scored eight goals and 11 assists for a total of 19 points . . . if he had played all season and maintained that pace he would have led the league in scoring.

ROSS SHIFTS SEATS

Dit Clapper ran the club alone while Art Ross kept shifting seats to be behind the Americans' net in order to watch the Bruins' revamped lines operate . . . Red Dutton was really in good voice all night.

Amateurs Gun For N. E. Titles In Arena Ring

Lt. William F. Barnes, athletic officer at Fort Devens, will send a team of seven Army boxers to the Garden next Monday night to compete in the New England A. A. U. Championships to be staged by the N. E. A. A. U. boxing committee.

This card for the titles will consist of 24 bouts in the eight divisions of championship weights with two semi-finals and a final in each class.

In addition to the Army battlers, winners of the recent Diamond Ring finals and the boys who qualified in two elimination shows will fight it out for New England A. A. U. Championship titles.

As only winners of district association championships are eligible to compete in the big National A. A. U. tournament at Boston Garden on April 13, 14 and 17, it means plenty of torrid action on Monday night as the youngsters strive to be named New England champions.

All over the country in various A. A. U. sectional championships service teams are taking part in the various championship meetings sponsored by the Amateur Athletic Union.

In the recent Southern A. A. U. basketball championships the team from Pensacola naval station won the championship and represents that district in the national tournament at Denver.

EX-DODGERS HELP BUCC PROSPECTS

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., March 18 (AP)—There are four gents with the Pittsburgh Pirates this year who would like to make a bum out of the leader of the Brooklyn Bums—Lee Durocher.

The four are, from left to right, Outfielder Jim Wandell, Catcher Babe Phelps, Pitcher Luke Hamlin and Infielder Pete Coscarart, who comprise the Pittsburgh booty in the Arky Vaughan trade.

Every one of the group would be pleased to have a good year with Frankie Frisch's Pirates, thereby casting a reflection on the masterminding of Durocher, the babbling brook.

A-1 CATCHING STAFF

There are definite opportunities for the quartet in Manager Frisch's plans. He believes Phelps and Al Lopez give him the best catching staff in the National League.

He thinks Wandell in right field will have a great season at the plate; that 35-year-old Luke Hamlin will serve well on the mound, and it's a toss-up between Coscarart and young Al Anderson for the shortstop berth.

The short field and third base, incidentally, are Mr. Frisch's main worries at this moment. He lost a whizzer prospect for short when Bill Cox joined the Army. Anderson played a lot there last year but Coscarart may take over the steady assignment this season.

At third, Lee Hamley may recover from a shoulder injury suffered in an auto wreck last December. If so, well enough.

Meanwhile, six-foot Bob Elliott, called in from the outfield, has looked very well this spring. Frisch looks for good hitting and good pitching. He'll have to have better fielding.

"We made 196 errors last year. That's—" He went on to explain in his own inimitable style just what that was, and it wasn't good.

LEFT-HAND HITTING

The Pirate outfield of Maurice Van Robays in left, Vince DiMaggio in center and Wandell says Frisch on paper, but back of them he has four others—Ed Stewart, Johnny Barrett, up from Hollywood; Cully Rickard, who joined the Buccos from Memphis last fall, and John Vrosteck, a New Orleans cluster.

Frisch has left-hand hitting this year for a change.

Max Butcher, a 17-game winner, heads the hurling staff. It shapes up as most promising, with such flingers as Rip Sewell, John Lanning, Bob Klinger, Bill Clemensen, Henry Gornicki, Aldon Wilkie, Dick Conger, Ken Heintzelman, Nick Strincevich, Lloyd Dietz, Hamlin and a couple of others. Out of that fearless Frank believes he can mould a good staff.

However, he blames no one but himself for losing the title he took by knocking out Lou Ambers, the Herkimer Hurricane, who suddenly ceased hurricaning the night Jenkins tagged him with a booming right hand.

Stanley Cup Opener Set For Toronto

TORONTO, March 18 (AP)—The first game in the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup playoff series will be played here Saturday, the management of the Maple Leafs said today.

Officials of the Toronto and the title-winning New York clubs reached an agreement on the switch from the previous arrangements which had the two teams opening the series at New York Sunday.

Under present plans the second game will be played in Madison Square Garden on that date, with the third billed for the same site on March 24, with the fourth here March 28.

If fifth, sixth and seventh contests are necessary they will be played in New York March 29, Toronto March 31 and New York April 2, respectively.
